Annual Commencement Exercises Of New Castle High School Last Night

GROVE CITY MAN CHIEF SPEAKER

Special Awards Are Made At Ceremonies At Ben Franklin Auditorium

Proposing four noble ideals for the graduates to follow, Dr. L. H. Beeler, head of the Grove City College Department of History, last night directed a ringing farewell message to the large class of seniors that received diplomas at the 57th commencement exercises of the Senior High School in the Benjamin Franklin junior high school auditorium.

Dr. Beeler was speaking on "What is the Meaning of Youth?" His inspiring discourse was a challenging answer to the question, spoken particularly to the graduates "to make the old road of life a little easier to travel, the tasks of life a bit more easier to carry and the problems of life somewhat easier to solve." Twelve hundred townspeople heard the speaker.

Over 200 Seniors

A group of 206 seniors who were completing four years of study in the high school here, seated upon a bleacher-like platform on the stage in traditional commencement cap and gown, listened attentively to the scholarly, interesting address—the last they would hear as students of the school. Later in the evening their diplomas were presented.

"I am to speak to the graduates here tonight, "said the commencement speaker after Superintendent

The present flair for swimming noticeable among boys of the city is to be credited to the Y. M. C. A.'s energetic drive to teach the youngsters the rudiments of swimming in the association pool. Yesterday marked the start of the annual learn-to-swim campaign which will last 10 days. If your boy is at least 10 years old send him to the "Y".

Terminal Trainmaster J. L. Thoman of the B. and O. calls our attention to the fact that the B. and O. has operated its passenger trains for eleven years now, from 1920 to 1930 inclusive, without a single passenger being killed in a train accident.

Some people thought there was a frost this morning, but the temperature did not get quite that low. There was a very heavy dew, however.

Two young women of last night's high school graduating class—Miss Angeline Castrucci and Miss Madeline D'Elletto—may take credit for considerable, and rightly so. Miss Castrucci's birthplace was Italy, while Miss D'Elletto was bringing to a close a perfect attendance record of 12 years. Never during that time was she absent nor tardy.

Prepare To Welcome Salvation Army Head

Commander Evangeline Booth, commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army in the United States, will be the honored guest of the city on Thursday morning for the brief period of approximately an hour. In the brief period that she is in the city, the civic and religious leaders of the community plan to accord her a fitting welcome. Mayor William H. Gillespie has suggested that the downtown section of the city be decorated with flags in honor of the city's distinguished visitor.

Accompanying Commander Booth who is on a 2,000 mile automobile tour through the eastern part of the United States, will be Commissioner and Mrs. John McMillan of New York, Colonels Fletcher Agnew and Richard Griffith, the Territorial band of 30 pieces and a number of returned missionaries who have seen service in all parts of the country.

Large trucks, weather permitting, will serve as a platform at the southwest corner of Washington street and South Jefferson street and it will be at this point that Commander Booth will speak and the program as arranged will be presented.

Program Planned.

JAMESON HOSPITAL NURSES TO BE GRADUATED FRIDAY

Seven disciples of Florence Nightingale, graduates of the Jameson Memorial Hospital School of Nurses will formally complete their three year's instruction on Friday evening, June 12, when the second annual commencement of the present school will be held in the First Christian church.

This year's class is really the last definite link between the old Shenango Valley hospital and the present modern Jameson Memorial hospital. The seven young women who will receive their diplomas on Friday evening began their training in the old hospital but transferred to the new hospital when the Shenango Valley was abandoned.

Alumni to Attend

A special invitation to the alumni of the Shenango Valley and the Jameson Memorial nursing schools has been extended by Miss May L. Crouch, director of the School of Nursing. It is her hope that the alumni will be well represented not only to see and hear the exercises, but that they may renew the spirit peculiar only to commencement events.

The commencement will open at 8:30 o'clock Friday evening, Daylight Savings Time. The Processional will include the class of 1933, followed by the class of 1932, with the class of 1931 following them. Then will come the faculty of the School of Nursing.

The invocation will be pronounced by Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the First Christian church, with the address of welcome being delivered by Fred L. Rentz, president of The News. The address to the graduating class will be delivered by Dr. Florence Teagarden of the University of Pittsburgh.

Policeman Ends Life With Gun

William McConahy Shoots Himself This Morning While Mind Is Affected

HAD BEEN OFF WORK FOR ABOUT 10 DAYS

While suffering from ill health, Policeman William McConahy, 75, one of the oldest members of the force, and one of the best known citizens of New Castle, shot himself through the head at his home on Martin street about 6:30 this morning.

Mr. McConahy had not been in the best of health for several years past. He complained first of heart trouble, and later other ailments. However, he possessed a determined disposition and kept pluckily at his work. It was seldom that he was off more than a day or two at a time.

About ten days ago he became ill while on duty and was taken home by Officer Charles Longstreth. Since then he had been in bed most of the time and under a doctor's care. One of his ailments was of a dropsical nature which caused his legs to swell. The swelling had been going down, and the doctor had told him that he would likely be able to be out of bed by tomorrow, possibly today.

Shot Is Heard.

Last night he appeared to rest as well as usual, although he was awake several times, when Mrs. McConahy would give him his medicine. About

Sentence Ohio Woman To Death

Mrs. Maude Lowther To Be Electrocuted For Murder Of Woman

FIRST OHIO WOMAN TO DIE IN CHAIR

MRS. MAUDE LOWTHER

(International News Service)

JEFFERSON, O., June 10.—Mrs. Maude Lowther, 23-year-old West Virginia hill girl, today faced death in the electric chair for the murder of Mrs. Clara Smith, 28, mother of two children and wife of Tilby Smith, 27, the paramour of the convicted woman, who is already awaiting electrocution for complicity in the slaying.

A jury of 12 men returned the verdict against Mrs. Lowther last night after deliberating for nearly two hours. They failed to recommend mercy, making a sentence of electrocution at the Ohio penitentiary mandatory. The death sentence is the first ever to be imposed upon a woman in Ohio.

Mrs. Smith was slain as she sat in her husband's small truck, holding her two-year-old child in her lap, at a lonely spot near Ashtabula, May 29, 1930.

On the witness stand during her trial, Mrs. Lowther confessed the shooting "because I loved Tilby." She testified that she and Smith concocted the plot to kill Mrs. Smith so that they could "go away together."

The shooting was the culmination of a ten-day romance between Smith and Mrs. Lowther, it was brought out during the trial. The pair met at a moving picture show.

Strike Spreads Into Southeastern Ohio, Deputies Patrol Highways

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 10.—All was quiet in the Western Pennsylvania coal strike districts today according to reports from officials in Allegheny, Washington and Westmoreland counties where the walkout resulted in open violence two days ago.

Orderly meetings were held at Coverdale and Burgettstown where officials of the United Mine Workers of America said hundreds of miners pledged allegiance to the organization. However, state troopers and sheriffs' deputies were held in readiness for action when the National Miners Union reputedly a communistic offshot of the miners' organizations, announced that it would attempt to stage several marches and demonstrations today.

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., June 10.—Mr. Mellon and Mr. Stimson are going over to London to another conference to say we are not going to cut down on the debt payments. We could write and tell 'em, but we like to get in wrong personally.

We have another delegation at Geneva on "dope." We want to limit the output. We don't manufacture it and the other nations do, so you know where that conference will end.

We get nothing at a conference only the trip. It looks like the depression would hurt the conference business, but it don't. They can always dig up enough to go and get in wrong.

LOCATE SUB DOWN IN 120 FEET OF WATER

Thirty-Five Have Been Rescued—Believe Those Aboard Sub Are Dead

(International News Service)

LONDON, June 10.—Four of the eighteen men believed lost when the British submarine Poseidon sank after a collision with the Chinese merchant vessel Yuta off the coast of China were rescued today, it was stated in an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Hongkong.

The rescues brought the total number of survivors to 35. The four additional rescued men were found some hours after the collision occurred. Five officers and 28 men who jumped clear after the crash were rescued immediately, but two of this number died later from their injuries.

Sub Is Located

The submarine was located this morning, lying 120 feet below the surface at a point approximately 21 miles north of Weihaiwai, an important naval and coaling station on the northeast coast of Shantung Province.

Bubbles seen rising from the sunken submarine guided rescuers to its resting place, and divers from the submarine parent vessel Medway and other ships of the British fleet began efforts to raise it. The majority of the missing were believed

Investigation Leads To Belief Miss Starr Faithful Was Slain

NEW YORK CASE IS INTERESTING

Prominent Politician And Physician In Boston Are Under Suspicion

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 10.—Starr Faithful, 25-year-old New York beauty, whose bruised body was found on a nearby beach on Monday, was murdered by two men, one of whom is a prominent politician, District Attorney Elvin N. Edwards of Nassau county said today.

The young woman, cultured and the daughter of a wealthy family, was murdered in New York after she mysteriously disappeared from her Greenwich Village home in the same block where Mayor Walker resides, the official charged. Her body was taken to the beach by automobile, placed in a boat and then thrown overboard, he said.

The district attorney left for Boston, where Miss Faithful, formerly resided, shortly after he made his announcement the girl had been murdered and had not drowned or committeed suicide.

Expect Arrests

It was reported that an arrest or two arrests would be made in Boston today. A report was circulated that a prominent politician had been arrested in Boston and was held there but this was denied to International News Service by Boston police.

Edwards' murder theory followed by investigation of the girl's movements prior to her disappearance last Friday. She was said to have been seen that day at the Cunard piers and officials thought she might have been thrown from an outgoing liner.

Edwards said the two men he sought were seen with Miss Faithful after she left her home Friday to shop. He said the names of both men were known to him. He refused to reveal their identity, however.

The second man sought was reported to be a well known physician. Whether the politician lived in Boston or New York was not made publib by Edwards.

The district attorney did not voice

Tiny Tot Kills Brother After Trivial Fight

Six-Year-Old Boy, Kills Brother, Aged Seven, In Quarrel Over Crackers

BLOWS AWAY PART OF YOUNGSTER'S FACE

(International News Service)

YORK, June 10.—In an argument over a handful of crackers, six-year-old William Trone today shot and killed his brother, seven, at their farm home near Spring Grove, a short distance from here.

Frightened, the boy took refuge in silence after the shooting and refused to discuss it with either his parents or Coroner L. U. Zech.

The shooting occurred, according to a third brother, George Jr., nine, in a bedroom of the Trone home. Charles, he said, was lying on a bed eating crackers when William entered the room, and the two began arguing over the crackers. William, George said, left the room, returned with a 12-gauge shotgun and fired at Charles. The charge struck the boy in the face, ripped away the right side of his head and killed him instantly. William then left the room, his brother said, replaced the shotgun and ran to his own room.

Great Britain Will Not Call Conference On Cancelling War Debts

By OTTO D. TOLISCHUS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, June 10—The British government has no intention of calling a conference of the powers with a view to discussing a general concellation of war debts, Premier Ramsay MacDonald informed the House of Commons today.

"Such action, under the present circumstances, would serve no useful purpose," the Premier stated.

MacDonald's statement was made in answer to a question by a member of the House of Commons whether the government would consider calling such a conference for discussing cancellation on the "largest possible scale."

"The attitude of this country regarding war debts it well known," the Premier answered. "Action along the lines suggested would, under the present circumstances, serve no useful purpose."

Answering another question regarding the conversations carried on at Chequers court between MacDonald and the German visitors, Chancellor Bruening and foreign minister Curtius, the premier said the discussions were "intended always as a general exchange of views. No conclusions and no decisions were reached at Chequers other than those continued in the communique issued after the meeting."

The date for the British premier's return visit to Germany has not been fixed, he said.

Arthur Henderson, foreign secretary, said in answer to a question that the British government hoped to resume the Franco-Italian-British naval negotiations after president-elect Doumer of France has taken office and has appointed his cabinet.

Meteor Blamed For Earth Shock South Of Toledo

Huge Hole Torn In Ground From Mysterious Cause Last Night

COUNTRYSIDE IS ROCKED BY IMPACT

No Trace Of Meteor Found In Crater—Tree Is Hurled Many Yards

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

TOLEDO, O., June 10.—A mammoth hole, believed to have been ripped by a huge meteor, was discovered near Malinta, O., 35 miles southwest of here today.

Although no trace of the meteor could be found evidences about the hole indicated that it had been dug only by a meteor falling with terrific force.

Shakes Countryside

The impact with which the meteor struck the earth shook the entire countryside, shattering windows and frightening scores of persons from their sleep.

Grass for yards about the hole was burned and trees were uprooted. One large elm tree, situated on the bank of a ditch where the large earth cavity was found, was torn out by the roots and hurled to a point 150 feet away.

A telephone pole was knocked down and wires for several hundred yards away were lowered to the ground.

Many Cities Feel Shock

Although the disturbance was most severe here, cities throughout this section was shaken at about the time the meteor was believed to have fallen.

Noise of the crash awakened the entire countryside. The earth shook and at first it was believed that a huge dynamite charge had been set off somewhere in the vicinity.

Persons who examined the hole said that the meteor was evidently embedded deep in the earth. Nobody in the village, it was said, reported seeing any blazing weight falling through the sky.

The emergency hospital, which was not occupied at the time, was used to house patients from Indian Creek valley until they had recovered sufficiently to be removed to surrounding hospitals.

He's excited, of course, so's the folks at the house, and the reason I think should be noted, he finished the year and his grades were O. K. and the best of it is, he's promoted. All those hours of work with his books he brought home, are repaid by the news of promotion, and are reason enough for a party tonight, with the usual fuss and commotion. He goes forward a step, and he changes his room, no wonder the folks are all gay, for promotion for fellows of ages like his, is a thrill, warm and eighty today

Vatican Drafts Reply To Note

Vatican Cardinal Drafts Reply To Italian Government's Note

REFUTE CHARGES OF VIOLATIONS

By GUGLIELMO EMANEL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

VATICIAN CITY, June 10.—The Vatican's reply to the Italian government's note of yesterday has already been drafted by Cardinal Pacelli, Papal Secretary of State, the International News Service learned today.

The Vatican note, it is understood, refutes the Italian government's charge that violation of the Lateran Concordat preceded Fascist suppression of Catholic youth activities.

Relations Strained

Archbishop Borgongini Duca, Papal Nuncio to Italy, probably will present the note to Premier Mussolini's foreign secretary today. At the Vatican it is feared that relations between church and state will continue to be strained for weeks because of the intransigent character of the Italian government's stand.

Nevertheless, the situation was better today than it was yesterday and danger of a severance of diplomatic relations between the Papacy and the Quirinal is believed to be past.

In his reply the Pope will dispute the Italian government's charge that the church violated terms of the Lateran Concordat in sanctioning a Catholic youth movement which threatened to rival in strength Fascist organizations of young people.

the extreme," the governor said. "I am having an investigation made to ascertain what wages are being paid in individual soft coal mines; how many hours a week the miners are working; what the situation is as to check weighmen; the need for check weighmen and other similar matters.

"This administration has set its face like flint against violence by any people or from any source and will not tolerate it. At the same time it recognizes that the working and living conditions of the miners are matters of the deepest concern to the government and the people of the commonwealth, and it proposes to get the facts concerning them in detail as promptly as possible."

The governor said he has received a letter from the national miners' union asking that all police be withdrawn from the strike area, but has not reached any decision on it.

The old city hall wall that remained standing at East and Washington street following the fire and later incorporated in the present building was damaged many years ago when a runaway trolley car ran into its side after a wild run from East Washington street, according to reports of old timers.

Several hundred kiddies from the different sections of town attended the opening of Carnegie playgrounds this morning. The recreational spot will be open throughout the summer months.

There is cause for some activity on the part of police authorities on Highland avenue. Pa Newc notes that large posters have been nailed to telephone poles along the avenue, contrary to the city ordinances.

Two Injured In Auto Crash

Machines Collide On Ellwood City Road Near Energy

Two persons were injured, one perhaps seriously at midnight last night in an automobile accident at Energy, along the New Castle-Ellwood City road. The car in which the two were hurt was struck by another machine and overturned. Occupants of other automobiles extricated persons from the car which was overturned.

The injured:

Mrs. Ralph Blose, 75 Pittsburg Circle, Ellwood City; bruises of the head, lacerations of both arms and of the right leg.

Mrs. Mae Emery, Lawrence avenue, Ellwood City, injuries about the chest; X-rays to be taken today to determine the extent of her injuries.

Mrs. Ralph White, driver of the car which overturned, also an Ellwood City resident, escaped unhurt.

According to State Highway patrol reports, the automobiles of Harold Hillard, Glenn avenue, New Castle and Mrs. White, Ellwood City were operating in opposite directions. Mrs. White was driving toward Ellwood City and Hillard toward New Castle.

Reports from the patrol substation stated today that the machine operated by Hillard struck the machine driven by Mrs. White and the latter's car overturned. Mrs. White crawled from the machine. Other automobilists rushed to the aid of the women and lifted the machine so they could be extricated.

The injured and Mrs. White were taken to their homes.

trapped in a single compartment of the submersible.

Most of the survivors were rescued by the Yuta, but several reached the surface in safety by means of the submarine's escape apparatus more than an hour after the collision.

Search Continues

The search continued, but little hope was held out that any of the fourteen men imprisoned in the submarine were still alive. The warships Hermes, Suffolk, Berwick and Cumberland were standing by to participate in the rescue work.

The Poseidon, a vessel of 1,475 tons and launched less than two years ago, carried a total complement of 51 officers and men. The collision occurred while the sub-sea boat was engaged in naval manoevres off the Shantung coast.

The disaster was a serious blow to the British navy both in loss of life and the loss of the Poseidon, which was the last word in submarine construction. King George sent messages of sympathy to the families of the dead and missing seamen, while the Admiralty ordered a complete investigation of the crash.

Probe Is Ordered

Dispatches received here from Hongkong failed to state the exact cause of the accident. A misunderstanding of signals, however, was believed responsible.

The Poseidon was rammed just aft of the conning tower. The collision, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch, occurred in a dense fog just after the submersible had rounded a dangerous point off the Shantung Peninsula.

Eight Signal They're Alive

London, June 10. — From their tomb in the submarine Poseidon 120 feet down in the water off the coast of China, eight British seamen signalled tonight to rescuers that they were still alive.

British warships at the scene of the disaster are frantically continuing their efforts to reach them and an American salvage ship the Pigeon is hastening from Tsingtao to assist.

Ten other men have not been heard from by rescuers. They are either imprisoned or dead in another compartment of the sunken submarine which sank after collision with the Chinese merchant ship Yuta.

An exchange telegraph dispatch from Hongkong this morning said that four men came to the surface via the submarine's escape apparatus, by which men are shot to the surface by compressed air. The men were picked up by British warships at the scene of the disaster.

This is the first time that this new method of saving submarine prisoners has been used in a wreck, although often successfully tried in experiments.

GAME POSTPONED

BOSTON, June 10.—Rain today washed out the first game of the current series between the Detroit Tigers and the Boston Red Sox.

QUIET PREVAILS IN COAL STRIKE DISTRICTS TODAY

were named by the Butler Consolidated Coal company in its request.

Officials of the mine claimed in the petition that the activities of its 400 non-unionized miners were seriously hampered by the union.

Sheriffs Robert S. Cain, of Allegheny County; J. A. Seaman, of Washington County; and Ray B. Johnston, of Westmoreland county, after tours of their districts, announced that the situation was in quiet control. No extra men were detailed to the strike regions yesterday in any of the three counties from the sheriffs' offices.

Would Mobilize Police

Major Lynn Adams, of the Pennsylvania State Police, said if necessary he would mobilize every state trooper under his command in Western Pennsylvania for strike duty although such action seemed unlikely from the peaceful aspect of the coal fields today.

Precautionary measures were taken at the Red Hill mine of the Pittsburgh Coal company at Daisytown where four machine guns, manned by Coal and Iron Police, were placed at the entrance to the workings. Reports from the Daisytown district indicates that indignation over the return to work of more than 100 miners who joined the walkout there Saturday has simmered down to passive defiance after a rally yesterday.

Parade Is Staged

More than 700 miners peacefully marched on Montour mine No. 10 of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal corporation early this morning. Four women who had joined the ranks of the miners were ordered to leave the parade in accordance with orders issued by Sheriff Cain. Augmented in numbers, the women formed a parade of their own and marched about 50 feet in advance of the men's column.

Miss M. Emaline Pitt, conciliator for the State Department of Labor, reported little success in her efforts to bring about a settlement of miners' and operators' differences in the Washington County field.

Strike Spreading

(International News Service)

Steubenville, O., June 10.—Overflowing the Pennsylvania state border, the bituminous coal strike had spread to Southeastern Ohio today, where county authorities were marshalling addition deputies to guard against possible violence.

Blocking roads and turning back miners on their way to work, strike leaders yesterday forced five mines into idleness, and today continued the same tactics, it was reported, in furthering the strike cause.

Late yesterday a march of 1,000 strikers on the Fairpoint mine property of the Hanna Coal company was halted by a cordon of sheriff's deputies. Jefferson county commissioners have voted an emergency fund of $2,500 to pay wages of additional deputies to patrol highways and protect property.

Drastic Steps Planned

Mine officials, charging that strike agitators "from Pennsylvania" are inducing their employes to throw down their jobs and join the ranks of the protestant miners, indicated they will take drastic steps if further strike attempts prevail.

"We will abandon the whole field before we will temporize with this communist gang from Pennsylvania," R. L. Ireland, vice president of the Hanna Coal company, told Jefferson county commissioners.

"This is the most interesting case I have handled," he said.

Prosecutor Arrives.

BOSTON, June 10.—Investigation into the death of Miss Starr Wyman Faithful, the 25-year-old heiress, whose bruised body was found on the sands of Long Beach, L. I., centered here today with the arrival from New York of District Attorney Elvin A. Edwards of Nassau county, L. I.

Shortly before 9 a. m., Edwards telephoned police headquarters and made an appointment to call on Deputy Superintendent of Police James A. McDevitt.

Reports were current that Edwards was armed with warrants and extradition papers for a prominent New York politician and a medical man, believed to have fled here.

Latest reports said the girl was believed to have met death by strangulation or by drowning in a bathtub at a drinking party. It was at first believed that she was beaten and then thrown overboard from an outward bound ocean liner.

6:30 this morning Mrs. McConahy went to the kitchen to prepare some medicine, leaving Mr. McConahy in bed in an upstairs bedroom. She had scarcely reached the kitchen when she heard a shot and the falling of a body. Rushing upstairs she found Mr. McConahy lying on the floor of the bathroom and hall. His feet were in the bathroom and head in the hall.

Although almost prostrated by the sight, Mrs. McConahy managed to get to the telephone and call her daughter, Mrs. Cleo Tinstman, who lives next door, and the police department. Officer Carl Lockard responded. Coroner J. P. Caldwell arrived later. Mr. McConahy had used his service revolver, a 38 calibre. The bullet entered the right side of his head, came out near the top and imbedded itself in the ceiling of the bathroom. An undertaker was called and the body removed.

During his illness Mr. McConahy had never indicated that he was contemplating any such act. It is believed that his mind was affected by his suffering and that he was not responsible. News of his death was received with keen regret by the members of the police force and by the community at large.

Mr. McConahy was born near East Brook November 23, 1856. He was a member of one of the pioneer families of that section. His early life was spent on the farm. Later he came to New Castle, where for many years he operated a lumber yard and engaged in contracting. He assisted greatly in the development of the Croton district, particularly the section around Martin street, where he lived.

He became a member of the New Castle police force as a special officer in 1909. Soon after he went into regular service. He served until December, 1911, when the Socialists came into power. He was off the force until December 1, 1913, but had served continuously ever since. He was regarded as a conscientious and dependable man, and was held in the highest esteem by his fellow members of the force.

Mr. McConahy was married in 1893 to Miss McKee, daughter of Dr. J. W. McKee of Cochran's Mills, Armstrong county, Pa. He is survived by his wife and one daughter, Mrs. Cleo Tinstman. He is also survived by two grandchildren, of whom he was very fond, William and Harriet Tinstman.

Announcement of funeral later.

LOCKHART CLASS HAS PICNIC TUESDAY

Members of the John P. Lockhart class of the First United Presbyterian church enjoyed a picnic supper Tuesday evening at Etna Springs.

After motoring to the picnic grounds there was a most delicious menu, prepared from the well filled baskets which had been brought along.

Concluding the supper the women and men took sides against each other and in a hotly contested mush ball game the women proved the better players, winning by a large score; this might have been due to the fact that the men played one-handed. Concluding the mushball game a series of stunts was indulged in by the members, passing the evening hours away all too quickly.

The committee arranging for the event comprised Mrs. Glenn Carpenter, Mrs. A. H. Borland, Mrs. Chris Young and Mrs. Don Wilson.

Mrs. A. Head of Columbus, Ohio, was a special guest.

MARJORIE SNYDER AND HARLOW W. CLARK WED

Pink peonies and orange blossoms, cibotium ferns and candles made a garden like setting in the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. U. Snyder on Winter avenue, for the wedding at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, of their daughter, Miss Marjorie Snyder, when she became the bride of Harlow W. Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Clark, of Butler avenue, which marked one of the prettiest events of the season.

The Rev. George M. Landis, pastor of the First Baptist church officiated with the impressive single ring ceremony in the presence of relatives and friends numbering seventy.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, Dr. E. U. Snyder, was lovely in a gown of shell pink chiffon and lace, made with fitted bodice and long skirt. She wore accessories to match, and carried an arm cluster of white roses, snapdragons and valley-lillies. Miss Elizabeth Hodgkinson, who was chosen as her attendant, was attired in a gown of chiffon of a harmonizing shade of pink, patterned on the same lines. Her arm bouquet was made of selected garden flowers.

Frederick Leslie served as best man.

Preceding the reading of the nuptials, Mrs. Paul D. Weller sang beautifully "Because" and Richard Johns followed with another selection appropriate to the occasion entitled "Into The Dawn With You". Miss Ann S. Thomas who played the Lohengrin Wedding March at the entrance of the bridal party, accompanied them at the piano. While the responses were being made, Miss Thomas played softly, strains of "Evensong" and also airs of the Mendolssohn Wedding Chorus filled the rooms at the close of the ceremony.

Following the congratulatory period, a buffet lunch was served, with the predominating color scheme of pink and white, in keeping with the wedding appointments, being carried out.

Mrs. Snyder, mother of the bride, wore a gown of acquamarine blue georgette and a shoulder corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Clark is a graduate of the New Castle senior high school with the class of '25 and of Slippery Rock Teachers college in '28. For the past three years she has been instructress of music and art in the Croton school. LINDBERGH PLANS ANOTHER

TO Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh their proposed flight across the Pacific and over Russia, China and Japan may seem purely a pleasure jaunt, but to their vast "public" it will be a great adventure and to official and business America it will have a diplomatic and trade significance that is not to be discounted.

Where Lindbergh flies abroad, a new trail of diplomacy is blazed, diplomacy of both the gold braid and dollar variety. The world will not soon forget the strong bond of friendship his flights to Paris and through Central and South America welded between his own country and those he visited. Few duly accredited and fully credentialed emissaries have accomplished as much.

This time the "Lone Eagle" will not go alone, but, diplomatically speaking, the presence of a Morrow in the cockpit will be no handicap. These Lindberghs and Morrows by their union have given to the nation its greatest diplomatic family. The work of Senator Morrow while ambassador to Mexico furnishes one of the brightest pages in the history of American diplomacy.

Here's to success to Charles and Anne. May they complete their great adventure in safety and bring back some diplomatic blue ribbons and business from the Orient. The bets are all in their favor.

MAYBE THIS WILL EXPLAIN IT

Messrs. Stalin and Company are understood to be a little disturbed at certain hitches that have occurred in the carrying out of the program contemplated in the 5-year plan. Production in Soviet factories is not up to expectation; workmen are careless or lax, and despite stern punishment for sabotage—which now has come to mean failure for any cause to do what the Kremlin considers a day's work—have not kept up to the mark.

Sovietism has been trying to find out why this is so. Its heaviest thinkers have concentrated on the problem, and have written many ringing manifestoes summoning the proletariat to the onset against capitalism. But for some reason that Sovietism cannot understand, the national effort lags; factory output is both short of the fixed maximum and defective in quality. In vain have the gospels of Lenin been searched to find a clue to the mystery. In vain is the most rigorous Communist discipline imposed. The workers just don't get the maximum of work out.

We venture to suggest a reason for this condition that the Soviets may have overlooked, remarks the Kansas City Star. Whether there is a word in the Russian language that corresponds in some degree to the English word "incentive" we do not know. But if there is Messrs. Stalin and Company should ponder that word. All men, probably even Russians, are individualists at bottom.

It is through their individualism that wise nations (of which Soviet Russia is not one) have wrought. The individualism of the English made England. The individualism of the Americans made America. That is because every man uses his muscle and his head, first of all, for himself and his family. His self-interest in his work and in its rewards is his incentive to do that work to the topnotch of his best ability.

Can the Soviet government build a great and permanent society while excluding the incentive that the universal experience of the race has proved to be the very foundation of progress?

ADVERTISING AS A SCIENCE

Like all things, advertising has had an evolution. A century ago the leading merchants resorted to what is now the classified ad and the modern display ad was unknown. The store which a century ago purchased newspaper advertising in quantities of a half dozen lines weekly now contracts for one and two pages and the landlady advertising for a roomer or a young lady seeking a lost cat consumes more space in the newspaper of today than the most thriving merchant of yesterday.

As in quantity, so has advertising had an evolution of quality. Within the shopping memory of the present generation the advertisement, both newspaper and magazine, has risen from a relation of articles and prices to attractive displays artistically phrased, graphically illustrated and in the case of magazines often beautifully lithographed. The modern advertisement is not a narration of goods and prices; it is storehouse of information about buying, styles, thrift and economy.

The public once complained of spending a penny for a newspaper and getting 50 per cent, more or less, of its paper in advertising. Now some magazines are purchased by many for the advertisements alone, and as for the newspaper, the advertisements form an important part of the day's reading.

FACING OUR PROBLEMS WITH CHEERFULNESS

There was much sound sense in the address of President Allman at the Founder's Day celebration and tree-planting exercises at the National Farm School in Doylestown. He rightly declared that fundamental poverty was inconsistent with wealth-producing America. He was not exaggerating when he declared that more cheerfulness of spirit and more confidence, patience and courage on the part of the general public would correct unemployment and hasten the return to prosperity and happiness. "In this machine age," he said, "perhaps too many of us are looking for engine trouble, whereas what we need is a supply of good gas." He added: "It is true that we are facing difficulties, but not impossibilities." The day is sure to come when we shall wonder why we ever permitted ourselves to become as pessimistic as some have in these troubled times.

The optimist who spoke at Doylestown was not afraid to make a prediction. Here it is: "We shall emerge from the present state of affairs with unshaken faith in our country's future, with renewed confidence in our own capacity to meet and overcome the temporary obstacles that seem to impede our progress."

It is good to hear from men who have no doubt about the final outcome. And it is still better to know that this spirit of cheerfulness is growing day by day. No sane person expects a change overnight; the summer is the period of less activity in many lines of business; but it is not necessarily the time of idleness. Many, very many, will be making plans for the fall and winter; the results of these preparations will unquestionably be felt in many lines of business and in various parts of the country. We have seen the pendulum swing from extreme optimism to pessimism. Now, happily, executives everywhere are admitting that our problems are not insoluble.

It is a long road that has no turning and we have now reached the stage when hope is taking the place of despair. More and more people are looking on the bright side. It is only a question of time when the majority will feel that the struggle is going to end in victory. This is what we call psychology—mass psychology. Be an optimist and you will hasten the return of the inevitable.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

A republic is a land in which there is no tyranny except that approved by the community conscience.

The Astronomer in the Night
The Poet in His Pain
How All Men Should Be

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Night after night, when all around him men were sleeping, an astronomer sat in his observatory and stared at a star. Those men beneath those still roofs that stretched below them thought they were safe. He knew they were doomed. That blazing star out in the heavens was crashing headlong through the spaces with the little earth as its target....The astronomer knew. He had calculated its direction, measured its speed. It was aimed for the earth and he knew the exact day on which it would strike the earth and destroy it.

In the night he had struggled with himself. Should he announce his fearful discovery? Should he wake those sleeping people and tell them they were condemmed? Should he risk the anarchy and dispair, the orgy of tears and hystria, into which he could plunge the world? ....He wrestled with that ghastly desire men have to tell bad news to their fellows. He won and kept his secret to himself. They'd know soon enough and he need not tell them.

So night after night he went to his observatory, to his telescope, and studied his plunging enemy....He was afraid, but he was proud, and one night he spoke aloud in his loneliness and said to the great star:

"I know that you will soon destroy me and all life on earth, but I can calculate the day, nay, even the hour when this will happen, while you are but a blind brute thing, and I would not change places with you!"

I read this in a book about modern physics by Paul Heyl, who works for the United States bureau of standards. It did not happen, perhaps it will never happen. It may be that Paul Heyl made it up.... I do not care. It COULD happen. A man MIGHT be as brave as that and all men should be....For that's what was in the heart of the limning, savage Henley when he wrote:

"Out of the night that covers me,
Black as the pit from pole to pole,
I thank whatever gods may be
For my unconquerable soul."

That's how a boy felt once. A boy who "borrowed" a cigarette from me and lit it and smiled a thank you and lay back on his stretcher and died with the curl of the first puff still about his dry lips. It's in many, many men and women—that defiant challenge to fate and extinction—and I hope it will be in me, some day, as you hope it will be in you!

EXPERIENCE

They told me over and over again
The things that I had to learn.
They struggled to save me the needless pain
Of many a sting and burn,
But I was young, and would find out
The truth of the dangers they talked about.

And now I know what they knew, and I
Have children of my own,
And the day will come when they'll want to try
Their strength in the danger zone.
For the way seems level and straight and fair
And they can't believe there are briars there.

But should they take what I wouldn't take
In spite of the needless tears?
Should age regret that is cannot make
A short cut through the years?
How sad were youth if it really knew
As much as the worn out olders do!

In spite of the truths which the grownups know
And the thick books on the shelves,
It is well that the youngsters still must go,
Some lessons to learn themselves.
For a horrible sight would a young man be Weighed down by the wisdom of seventy-three.

GO THE LIMIT

Does it require very little of personal accomplishment to cause you to rise rapidly in your own estimation?

The successful carrying out of undertakings which others might consider unimportant, result in self-satisfaction in your case.

Why so easy pleased with your own efforts?

Why so elated over small things that you don't try for more meritous things?

You get so much gratification out of minor endeavors that you have regulated your efforts to small affairs.

You are permitting latent talent to lie dormant because you do not call it into service.

Most men might have reached higher positions than they have and been more successful had they not been so content with what they could win easily.

Haven't you been too easy with yourself all your life?

Even under handicaps you can look back and see where you might have done much more if you had tried hard enough.

But you were willing to pass along the minimum of effort.

Right now, are you not favoring yourself too much?

You have never tested yourself to your full ability, have you?

FACT AND FUN

National distinction among cities for having the largest number of shade trees has been held by Springfield, Mass., for a number of years, but Ann Arbor, Mich., is pushing up nearer and nearer the winning point and is causing the Massachusetts city serious concern, as it is anxious to retain the distinction and has estimated its trees as having a value of $2,500,000, by fixing the value of each living tree at $100. Meanwhile the city of Ann Arbor is racing along with typical Western vigor and is determined to outstrip the Massachusetts city.

Knees And Decks Benefit As Navy Abolishes Holystone

Economy Becomes Foe Of Tradition When Secretary Adams, Sailorman Of Cabinet, Decides That New And Lighter Decks Must Be Saved From Destruction

Labors of the men of the Navy may be made lighter through the official order abolishing the holystone, but the Department has destroyed a traditional activity of the sea. The old sandstone instrument of cleanliness, with its potency in wearing out both deck and sailors, goes the way of other customs, not in the interest of the seaman but to preserve the expensive but light decks of the modern battle-wagons built for speed and armament. Joy for lightened labors mingles with the mourning for the passing of another tradition of the sea.

"Even landlubbers—poor, benighted creatures who can't tell a holystone from a pelorus—will marvel at this," thinks the WORCESTER TELEGRAM. "Efficiency has won a great victory right in the backyard of conservatism. The holystones wear out the decks. Consequently they are not economical. Consequently they are no longer to be used. If Secretary Adams had ordered the collars off bluejackets—those striped, flapping appendages which are standing invitations to every moving cable to grab a gob and yank him down the hawse-pipe—if the Navy changed its uniform for acrobatic tights, the innovation would be scarcely more surprising. Sailors are conservative folk, whether they be mess attendants or admirals. And Mr. Adams is himself a sailor of parts, albeit of the amateur persuasion. It's just incomprehensible. But that's the way of the world. Everything must be efficient. Off with the old and on with the new! Holystones are wasteful—throw them away with the torpedo boats and the commodores."

"It is explained," says the ST LOUIS GLOBE-DEMOCRAT, "that the wooden decks of the new 10,000-ton cruisers are so light that they may be made unserviceable very rapidly by the use of holystones. So some other method of cleaning the decks that is less wearing on the material will be employed. Save for an occasional holystone that may be used in removing stains, the ancient implement has been given a more or less honorable discharge. And chanteys are being sung on board ship if chanteys remain an institution in the navy. The holystone is a soft sandstone that has remained an irritation to the sailorman since the first open boat was decked in and ideas of cleanliness prevailed. It is an abrasive, employed with water to keep decks spotless by rubbing, the detested job being done on hands and knees.* However, the recent order from the Secretary of Navy does not mean that there will be any relaxation in the degree of cleanliness aboard the ships of the navy. The cleaning must go on, with brushes and sand or by such other means as will not cause excessive wear.' So it is to be assumed that sailors' trousers will still retain the bell bottoms so they may be rolled up easily when their wearers have to do down on hands and knees in keeping the ship's decks immaculate."

Recognizing that "Secretary Adams is a yachtsman and devoted to the old lore of the sea," and that "this is an honest heritage, for there were Adamses in the old clipper ship days and there were Adamses to take out a privatter in the Revolution, while before that the Adamses had put out to sea in boats," the ROCKFORD MORNING STAR suggests: "It must have been with a considerable pang that the Secretary of the Navy ruled that there would be no more holystoning of decks in the American navy. Decks have been holystoned since first an American ship hoisted sail. But ships are different now, and what the muscular sailor lads have been doing to the decks of modern warships with their holystones has been extremely expensive for the navy department. Give a sailor a bit of sandstone and a pail of water and he'll go through the lightweight deck of a modern cruiser in no time at all. The old planking of other days has gone in the interest of economy of weight. If you save a couple of tons on timber, you can mount an additional gun, and these new cruisers are built to carry armament and engines and not to haul heavy timbers around."

"The navy bean may be the next to go," warns the MILWAUKEE SENTINEL, but that paper excuses the recent order on the grounds that it was "not to save sailors but to save decks," since "the hardest teakwood melts away under a brisk holystoning, and teakwood is expensive." The Sentinel recalls the history of the doomed institution with the statement: "The holystone is not intrinsically holy, and its influence on the language of seamen is decidedly unholy; but it has been an integral part of the navy for so long that the readjustment following its abolishment may have profound effects. Sailors may forget how to swear and going to sea on a battle wagon may become as maidenly and proper an enterprise as a college girls' boat race on the river. For the benefit of the uninitiated it should be explained that a holystone consists of a block of stone weighing from 25 to 150 pounds, depending on whether you take the estimate of the boatswain's mate in charge or of the seaman operator. A long handle is fastened to the stone with an iron band. The deck polisher pushes the implement vigorously up and down upon the teakwood, which has been wetted and sprinkled with sand. (Get one of the children to sit on the snow shovel and then push the shovel vigorously on the cement sidewalk to get the effect of holystone operation.)"

"The decks of the great ships of war may be a trifle less spic and span," according to the KALAMAZOO GAZETTE, "but they'll wear a lot longer. So, one suspects, will the men of the fleet. Swabbing decks isn't the sailor's idea of a good time but it's a lot better than getting down on hands and knees to massage them with a holystone. The order against this naval accessory is one economy measure that won't be received with groans by the boys who have joined up to see the world through a port-hole."

"The holystone and its whitened deck," declares the HARTFORD COURANT, "are not the only sacrifices to economy. Next to his deck, shining brass and immaculate varnished brightwork were the delights of a smart skipper. Much deck brightwork has been painted over to save the unending necessity of washing off the salt with fresh water, and chromium plate and paint have lightened the polisher's duties. Sentimentalists may mourn their passing, but there seem to be no good reasons for retaining such useless breeders of drudgery."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

AID FOR THE SICK

Arizona has a preeminence among the states which is at the same time encouraging and depressing. It is the mecca for those afflicted with tuberculosis, arthritis, cancer and kindred deseases which may be checked and ever cured by the dry air of the high mesas.

The National Government has built great Sanitariums, the Rockerfeller Foundation has given great sums of money to assist the work being done there to help Humanity. In Tucson out of a population of 45,000 it is said there are 6,000 in beds. Some who go to Arizona hopefully, die but many live. Of those who live there are those who find that they must spend the rest of their days there while there are those who return to their old homes absolutely cured.

We spent the night at Phoenix with one who may only for short durations spend any time outside the state. Shortly after his graduation from college and when he was just becoming established in his life's work the hateful germ of tuberculosis began its work upon him. He had married happily and life held many alluring things before him. Not least among them was his golf game. At twenty six he was playing a sweet game way down in the 70's. He was sent to Arizona and for thirty odd years he has been raising cotton and not always successfully, but from the time he entered Arizona he has not played a single golf shot.

His wife has stuck by him and they have raised three healthy children—two boys and a girl. They are all living in a big rambling two-story ranch house with great wide sleeping porches and notwithstanding it was late in May we had to draw up the blanket before morning. Each of the sons have a ranch adjacent to the father's and two years ago one of them cleared $10,000 from his crop of long staple.

Father told me "Life has not been all bitter, thank God for Arizona."

All is God's—What! know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's.

First Free Swim Classes Big Success At Y. M. C. A.

News Coupons For Ten Days' Instruction Arrive Rapidly On First Day

Four Hundred Boys Taught To Overcome Fear Of Water In Local Pool

Following the success of the first day in the annual learn-to-swim drive, instructors this afternoon started on the second lesson with the boys.

Shrill voices of boys 10 years and over who a short time before overflowed the association floors rang through the "Y" pool Tuesday afternoon, the start of the annual 10 day free Learn-To-Swim drive for which The News has been publishing free swim coupons during the past week.

Registration for this year's drive broke all previous years' marks as the boys continued to line the halls before W. A. Thomas, boys' work didector, who was in charge of the registration.

While scores were still registering, others were exploring the building and becoming acquainted with the different departments. Earlier in the day many parents had telephoned the association for additional information on the annual free swim. R. L. Mermans, general secretary, Thomas, Henry T. MacNichols, physical director and Mrs. Clara Crissman assured mothers that it was safe to send their boys to the "Y".

"Willie will be welcome here and the instruction in swimming will be under the direction of experts," the association reported to one anxious parent who called to inquire about the swim.

Following the registration of about 400 boys, classes were quickly formed. The boys were divided into four groups and two expert swimmers of the association staff of examiners and instructors were assigned to each.

The initial fundamentals for the boys included the urgent request that they overcome fear in the water.

"That was the first thing we told them" Joe Bara, life saving and swimming examiner at the "Y" said when asked about the first day's swim in the annual drive.

The four classes were in the pool for a half hour.

In addition to Bara other instructors for the first lesson were Henry T. MacNichols, "Y" physical director: James Ryhal, senior live-saver: Roger Meermans life saving and swimming examiner: James Sotus and Charles Christopher.

McKibben In Race For City Treasurer

Fourth Ward Man Announces Candidacy For Office At Fall Primary

C. C. (RUBE) McKIBBEN

I am 34 years old, a married man and a property owner, residing in the Fourth Ward of the City of New Castle where I have been a resident all my life.

For the past 13 years I have been employed in the payroll department of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company (Shenango Works), my duties are the compiling, disbursing and auditing of payrolls. The experience which I have received at Shenango Works would, I believe, enable me to conduct the affairs of the office of City Treasurer in an efficient manner.

I believe conditions warrant a change in the method of paying taxes and am greatly in favor of a quarterly payment plan which I believe to be more practical and can readily see where it would lessen the burden of paying taxes, particularly for the working man.

I admit that it would require additional work in the City Treasurer's Office, but since he is elected to this office by the taxpayer and voter, he is obligated to do what he can in their behalf.

Should I be successful in my campaign, I will endeavor at all times to serve the people—your support is respectfully solicited.

Davis Addresses Bucknell Class

Bucknell Graduting Class Hears 'Depression Talk' By Senator Davis

LAUDS PLAN OF WILLIAM HEARST

(International News Service)

LEWISBURG, Pa., June 10.—Opportunities exist today for the man capable of taking advantage of them, despite the widespread economic depression, U. S. Senator James J. Davis told the graduating class of Bucknell University here Tuesday at the 80th commencement of the school.

Senator Davis, discussing "present day opportunities" lauded the plan broached by Wiliam Randolph Hearst for a $5,000,000 government bond issue to be spent promptly in employment of labor at the pravailing wage rate.

"The plan has my full approval," Senator Davis said, "and if carried out it would do much to restore prosperity in the near future."

Decrying "Alarmists who continue to prate of the six million unemployed" Senator Davis pointed out there are forty million people "going to work every day," and predicted America will emerge from the present depression with capacity for greater prosperity founded upon a more equitable distribution of wealth.

Two hundred and fifty degrees were awarded by the university, Tuesday, one of them by radio—first time an active degree has ever been so presented. The radio degree went to John T. Anderson of Shicksburg who has been ill for the past six weeks in a nearby sanitarium. The commencement marked retirement of Dr. Emory W. Hunt, president of the university since 1919. His successor will probably be named this week.

Flame cooking means blackened pots and pans to scour. It means smudgy walls and ceilings and redecorating expense.

The High cost of soot and the Low cost of Electric Cookery

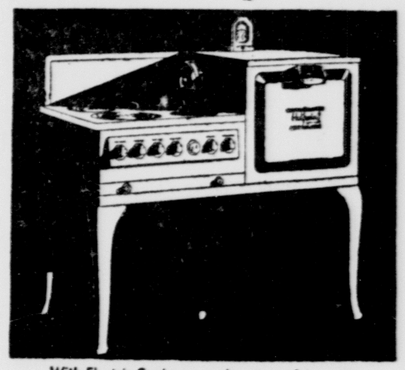
WHEN you banish matches, flame and soot from your kitchen you SAVE many ways. No more standing at the sink, scouring disagreeable soot—ruining your hands and nails. You save redecorating expense—for there is no smudge to spoil the walls, ceilings (or curtains) all through the house, from kitchen to living room.

Electricity cookery is now amazingly fast, with the Hi-Speed Calrod heating element. It is more economical than ever before . . . costs less than one cent a meal a person.



With Electric Cookery merely put meal in oven and leave the house. The oven turns ITSELF on and off, regulates its own heat. Uses electricity only a small fraction of the time.

Pennsy Officials To Witness Rolling Of New 152-Pound Rails

(International News Service)

BRADDOCK, Pa., June 10.—Pennsylvania railroad officials from Altoona, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia arrived here today to witness the rolling of the first of the 152-pound rails ordered by the railroad, at the Edgar Thomson Works of the Carnegie Steel Company, Braddock.

The new rails will be used on the main line of the Pennsylvania between Pittsburgh and Altoona. Laying of the new trackage is planned within a few days.

The rails are 32 pounds heavier than the rails now on the roadbed over which passenger and freight trains pass daily. Each rail will be 39 feet long, weigh 152 pounds to the yard and will be three inches higher than rails now used.

Railroad engineers estimate that the new trackage will permit a safe speed of 100 miles an hour by trains traveling over them.

Relief Demands Are Not Quite So Heavy At Present

Salvation Army Officer Reports Continued Need, However, For Clothing

Demands for relief are not quite so numerous at the present time, according to Ensign V. Thomsen, officer in charge of the Salvation Army work here, but there is still much need for clothing and shoes.

Calls are being received constantly for these articles and the supply is less than the demand, according to Ensign Thomsen. Much of the demand comes from the fact that second-hand clothes and shoes wear out quickly, according to Ensign Thomsen, and soon there is a new supply needed.

Many of the same people who call at the City Mission and the Associated Charities are also calling the Salvation Army or more often present themselves at its office.

A fine record is kept of all applicants so that abuse of demands can be determined and correction made before the applicant can get too far. Stoves of various kinds are in demand because many people have had their gas turned off thorugh inability to pay their bills and many of these people are endeavoring to cook and bake on coal stoves, obtaining fuel by cutting wood for a supply or by using coal that has been donated.

SCOUTS GIVEN SCHOOL HOUSE NEAL COALTOWN

New Castle Girl Scouts Allowed Use Of Abandoned One Room School

There was just one thing that the New Castle Girl Scout organization didn't have—a "Little House." And it was the one thing the Girl Scouts, leaders, councillors and director have dreamed of having some day—a house owned by the organization, where the troops could have special all day meetings, where they could spend their week ends, where they could have picnics.

They have one now. The announcement comes this morning from Miss Nance Pugh, director of the city troops, that the Neshannock township school directors have given to the New Castle Girl Scout troops the use of a one room school building near Coaltown for a period of six months.

The school building has been abandoned for sometime, but is in good condition, has one large clear room and seems to be just the thing for a Girl Scout "Little House."

The Scouts will use it for the designated period and if it is found satisfactory it is believed that it will be officially turned over. Throughout the summer it will be used extensively and already troops are planning events to take place there.

The Girl Scout council, consisting of Misses Elizabeth Reis, Martha Bigley, Helen R. Wilson, Mrs. F. E. Sowersby, Miss Elsa Ashmore, Mrs. C. R. Balph, Mrs. Herbert Christman, Miss Florence Davis, Mrs. Howard Gregg, Mrs. W. H. Hanger, Mrs. John Higgins, Mrs. Henry Rappold, Mrs. Ray Robison, Miss Alice Sterling, and the director, Miss Pugh, have long had the little school house in their minds as a "Little House" and it was through their cooperation with the school directors that it was possible to secure it for the period.

New Castle Scouts now have everything they could desire and they are fast becoming the most active and best equipped Scouts in the region.

Detects Earthquakes

With this home-made and crude seismograph, Mrs. Charles Bickmeier of Bellaire, O., is said to be able to detect earthquakes hours before college and government stations. The contraption is a butcher's steel used for sharpening knives. It hangs suspended on a heavy log pillar in the basement of her home, over a concrete floor. When there is an earth tremor it sways. A suggestion that her home is located on a rock which extends far into the earth, is offered as a solution of the efficiency of the device.

Crowd Attracted By Morbid Case Of Ernest Brown

Catherine Sapienza, Aged 15, Says That Brown Cast "Spell" Over Her

Attracted by morbid curiosity to hear the details of a revolting case against Ernest Brown, a colored man about 35 years of age, who is charged with sodomy, a large crowd, comprised of both men and women, was present at the trial of Brown, which was taken up before Judge R. L. Hildebrand in court Tuesday afternoon.

Owing to the seriousness of the offense, the case was certified to the court of oyer and terminer, and the jury was selected in the same manner as in murder cases, each juror being called and being examined on his vordire. Jurors were asked as to their knowledge of the cases, and whether or not they had any prejudices against the Negro or the Italian race. The latter question was because the girl in whose behalf it is brought by County Detective H. Martin Lee, is of Italian parentage. Her name is Catherine Sapienza. She is a demure and pretty looking little miss 15 years of age.

Brown, the defendant, is what is known as a burly Negro, being a large man, with a complexion that might be called dark mulatto. He is a married man and living with his wife at the time of the offenses with which he stands indicted.

Catherine Sapienza told her story in a low voice, giving it with some hesitancy, but at the same time apparently making no effort to hide the revolting details. She told of her acquaintance with Brown and of having met him on the first occasion in an alley back of the Y. M. C. A. building. She said that Brown was in a car and had forced her to get into it, placing his hand over her mouth. They drove to the vicinity of the Piedmont farm where they remained for about an hour. She claimed that Brown seemed to put her under a "spell", and that he had made dire threats against her and her home if she did not do as he directed.

Several times after this she met Brown back of the Y. M. C. A. building. She said that he did not put his hand over her mouth on these occasions, but that he had forced her to get into the car and they had driven down to the Piedmont farm or out the Pulaski road. These trips were in daylight. On one occasion she said that Brown had placed a cigarette in her mouth, had lit it and told her to smoke or he would kill her. In all she admitted to having met Brown 15 times. During all this time she had not told her parents or anybody else what had happened.

During the time when she was meeting Brown she said that she was always subject to the "spells" which he would cast over her. While the meetings were in progress she made a trip to Ravenna, O. Counsel for Brown had marked as exhibits two presents, which it was claimed she had sent from Ravenna, one to Brown and one to his wife.

Around the first of May, Brown was shot while in an alley known as Norris way. He had just put his car in a garage, when he was plugged with buckshot. Mrs. Brown, his wife, made an information charging Charles Sapienza, father of Catherine, with the shooting. Brown was taken to the hospital, where he recovered, and Sapienza was arrested.

So far in the trial there has nothing developed to show that Sapienza knew anything about Brown's relations with his daughter at this time. Nobody saw him do the shooting and he denies it. It was after the shooting on May 2 when Catherine Sapienza told her story to Policewoman Minnie McKibben, County Detective Lee and Attorney Charles Matthews.

Attorneys Matthews and Harry Frank are conducting the case for the prosecution, along with District Attorney John Powers, and Attorneys Edwin K. Logan, Thomas W. Dickey and Orville Brown for the defense.

The jury is composed of four women and eight men.

The case is still on trial.

(International News Service)

OSSINING, N. Y., June 10.—Every prune and every apricot served to convicts in Sing Sing prison hereafter will have to be accounted for and eaten at the table officials declared today.

The order followed the accidental discovery of an improvised still in the heart of the prison—a butter tub in which prunes and apricots were fermenting—which revealed the prisoner's methods of obtaining a powerful brew.

West Scranton Church Bombed

Beautiful Catholic Church At West Scranton Suffers $50,000 Damage

POLICE PROBING SERIOUS OUTRAGE

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., June 10.—Thought by police to be a re-echo of the Vatican-Italian government differences, St. Lucie's Catholic church, in West Scranton, was bombed early today with damage estimated at $50,000.

Seven valuable stained glass windows in the church, considered one of the most beautiful in this city, were blown out, marble statuary was torn from the walls and the church was flooded with water from broken pipes.

Police based their theory of the bombing on the fact that the church is located in an Italian section and that the recent Vatican-fascist dispute has been much discussed in the neighborhood where many of the residents are in sympathy with the Italian government.

DIPLOMAS GIVEN TO 206 MEMBERS OF SENIOR CLASS

of Schools Green presented him. "We'll just tolerate you here," he told the audience.

He immediately unfolded to the class the costly sacrifice which their education has cost, to their parents, their teachers, their board of education and to the residents of the community in general, all for the purpose of bringing to the fore the high obligation which they owe the world.

"Sometimes we are prone to look at our graduates and wonder," Dr. Beeler said. "We wonder if the student of the graduating class will be the A business or professional man of the future, and in this regard he emphatically declared: "You watch, follow these graduates down through life—every graduating class— and you'll find the A student is an A man or woman 10 years from now. Those students who have slipped through in their high school work will be slipping through life in just the same way."

At this point Dr. Beeler launched into four worthy ideals—objectives to strive for—which in his estimation would make it easier for all to understand youth a little better. He predicted that those who would take his suggestions tonight would become—if they will to become—leading men and women living glorious lives, but he said those who wouldn't take heed would falter by the wayside.

Obey Nation's Laws

"Have a flag over you head" was his first injunction to the graduates, and here he explained he was thinking of our great country—a country of liberty and rich opportunity, where the lowest may attain the high places because they have equal opportunities with the rich. Dr. Beeler told them to obey the country's laws.

He assurred the senior that much may be expected by their country, if necessary, urging them to keep constantly prepared so that they might heed at the earliest call. He said that duty, responsibility, sacrifice and service are things their country has a right to demand. He told them that the story of all nations shows that three things have always been exacted and required of their citizens—their time, when needed; their wealth, when it is necessary, and their lives, when the time arises.

Hurrying to the second point, Dr. Beeler told them to "have a land beneath your feet." Here he stressed the unmistakable and acknowledged part the home plays, and, although the old-fashioned home has passed on, the sacred home ideals which then were held must be lived and expressed in the lives of the future. He said this must be if the nation is to be perpetuated.

"Have a tool in your hands" he hold them next—in plain words, work. The glory that's to be found in doing a day's task well is not to be matched, he said. He urged the seniors to find something definite to do, and in timely illustrations he pointed out gigantic medical and engineering feats which yet remain undone—which offer something to strive for. Here he used the unconquerable cancer as one illustration. He showed that the world more than ever is challenging youth.

Have a book in your heart, was his fourth and final point, and he introduced it with a touching illustration. For weeks, Dr. Beeler said, he has been studying and searching for the one greatest man of every country, one who stands out above all the rest. He has found his answer in the 15 leaders he has chosen.

ANGELINE CASTRUCCI

Last night, theoretically speaking, he summoned the 15 to the platform in front of the graduates and asked them to choose the man in their estimation was the greatest that ever lived. "Jesus Christ", that's their unanimous answer, he said. Not a bit of delay nor hesitation, their answer was a definite one.

He urged them to have a book in

JONATHAN BROWN
Commencement Speaker

their heart that Christian ideals might become living ideals in their lives.

Then in summation Dr. Beeler said, his first point represents our country; the second, our home; the third, a real contribution to mankind, and the fourth, a great religion. He closed by challenging them to live these ideals.

Special Awards

Presentation of special awards made each commencement time by different civic organizations came immediately after the speaker had finished. The following honor students received formal recognition and a prize of $10 in gold for their efforts.

Prize of the Lawrence chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, for the best history essay on "Concord and Lexington". Won by Miss Elizabeth Dripps and presented by Mrs. Frances Simonton, representing the Daughters.

Prize of the local Business and Professional Women's Club for general excellence in English during the high school course, won by Miss Angeline Castrucci and presented by Miss Nannie Mitcheltree, principal of the Mahoning school and a representative of the Women's club.

Prize of the local Sons of the American Revolution for proficiency in chemistry. Won by John Chemerda and presented by Attorney E. F. G. Harper, in behalf of the Sons.

Two addresses by honor students of the graduating class, the students who received the highest scholastic rating, were given by Miss Angeline Castrucci, speaking on "A Century of Youth" and Jonathan Brown, whose subject was "Evaluation." Miss Castrucci declared, among other things, that how well America holds to her long sacred ideals depends upon youth, and Brown, asserting that evaluation is the word of the present, said future success will come to those who know how to evaluate time, education and material wealth. The spiritual side was also stressed.

Special instrumental numbers entertained the audience last night, Victor Rice contributing a cello solo, entitled "Adagia, from Concerto in D" and Dominick Pecano gave a violin solo, entiled "Souvenir." Both musicians received diplomas last night.

Prelude and closing numbers were played last night by the able senior high orchestra, directed by J. F. Replogle.

Seated on the platform with the graduates during the evening were the several speakers and Prof. Frank L. Orth, principal of the high school, Dr. Green, President Daniel Woolcock of the school board and representatives of the local organizations which offered prizes.

President Daniel B. Woolcock of the city's board of education, at the close of a brief address to the graduating class, presented the 206 diplomas as the students filed one by one across the stage.

Both the invocation and benediction were offered by the Rev. Clifford S. Joshua, pastor of the Croton M. E. church.

Earthquake Is Felt In Ohio

Findlay, Ohio, And Vicinity Reports Earth Trembling

FIRST BELIEVED BIG NITRO BLAST

FINDLEY, O., June 10—The earth rumble, which aroused scores of frightened persons here this morning, was probably a slight earthquake, authorities believed today.

The disturbance, it was said, lasted only a few moments. No damage or injuries were reported.

Two huge nitro-glycerin magazines are located near here, but no explosion was reported at either, authorities said.

Persons aroused from their sleep by the "quake" said the earth seemed to tremble and that windows could be heard to rattle from the force of the rumbling.

Rigid Requirements For Specialists Is Urged By Dr. Judd

Dr. E. Starr Judd, Minnesota Physician Elected Head Of Medical Society

Declares That Specialization Work Has Been Overdone—Would Give Tests

By E. L. RAWLEY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, June 10.—More rigid requirements and examinations for those who rate themselves as specialists were advocated by Dr. E. Starr Judd, noted Rochester, Minn., surgeon of the Mayo Clinic, in his inaugural address here as president of the American Medical Association.

Dr. Judd also urged the use of "common sense in medicine" and the erasing from the patients' mind the belief that medical science is a "mystery."

Would Give Test

"Specialization has been overdone," Dr. Judd said. He explained a plan had been worked out whereby a physician desiring to practice a specialty may take an examination prepared by the association. If he is successful, the physician would be granted a certificate attesting his ability in the particular field.

Dr. Judd asserted that the period of education for the practice of medicine was too long and proposed that a course in the use of "common sense in medicine" be introduced into the curricula of the medical schools of the country. He urged physicians to take their patients into their confidence.

High praise was given the family doctor by the incoming president, who succeeded Dr. William Gerry Morgan, of Washington, D. C.

"Some plan must be devised whereby the family physician will keep on functioning for his knowledge of his patient makes him best qualified to diagnose, treat and to direct the management of the case," said Dr. Judd. "His obligation is a serious one. No position in our social structure requires a person of character, industry and deep appreciation of his moral responsibility, more than does that of the general practitioner."

Dr. Appel Speaks

Dr. Theodore Appel, secretary of the Pennsylvania State Department of Health, speaking for Governor Pinchot, welcomed the 6,000 delegates to this city, where the association was formed 84 years ago.

Clinical sessions which held sway the first two days will give way to scientific sessions today while the house of delegates, the governing body of the association, will hold another meeting.

Artificial fever produced a high-frequency electrical current can restore sanity to the insane, according to an explanation presented to the clinic on irrational mentalities by Dr. William H. Schmidt, of Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia.

Demonstration Given

Dr. Clarence A. Neymann of the Northwestern University Medical College, Chicago, demonstrated the use of the method. He asserted 24 per cent of the patients so treated in Chicago were restored to their former occupations and 26 per cent showed marked improvement.

The method was acclaimed as the most advanced step in the treatment of insanity evolved since the 16th century.

Claire Milliken Files Suit Against Estate Of The Late Carl Palm

PALM WAS KILLED IN CRASH OF AUTO

As an aftermath of a fatal accident on the New Castle-Youngstown road in which Carl Palm, of Philadelphia was killed and Claire Milliken of this city, seriously injured, a suit has been filed by Milliken against the Palm estate for $25,843 damages. The suit is brought against Paul K. Guthrie, administrator of the Palm estate.

Palm was a traveling salesman who was quite well known among business men in this territory. Guthrie, a taxi driver, usually took him out to see his clients, when he came here on the train.

On June 7, 1930, Palm came in a new automobile, met Milliken, and on account of their acquaintanceship, asked him to go for a ride in his new car.

They were proceeding west on the New Castle-Youngstown road, near the intersection of the Pulaski and Edenburg road, when Palm permitted his car to swerve from the concrete and strike a telegraph pole. It sideswiped the pole and catapulted into a tree at the intersection of the cross roads. The car struck the tree head on. Palm was killed. Milliken had his right jaw broken, right leg broken, head cut and was otherwise injured.

He claims that previous to the accident he had cautioned Palm about driving so fast, and just before the car struck the pole he had re-iterated his caution, but that Palm had disregarded him.

In doctor and hospital bills Milliken says that he has spent $843, which is included in the $25,843 asked.

Plans Made To Punish Persons Who Tacked Them On Poles

Chief of Police C. C. Horner this morning issued orders to officers of the city police force to tear down and destroy all signs advertising a dance to be held here in the immediate future, which were found tacked on telephone and other poles in this city this morning.

The signs will not only be torn down and destroyed, but it is proposed to punish to the fullest extent of the law, the persons responsible for the placing of the signs on the poles as soon as it has been determined, who is responsible.

It is contrary to the provisions not only of a city ordinance but also a state law to do anything of this kind.

Chief of Police C. C. Horner today asked the motorists of the city to assist the police in making the visit here Thursday morning of Commander Evangeline Booth and a party as pleasant as possible.

He asks that motorists refrain from parking on South Jefferson street from Washington street to Market Way and on Washington street in front of the Cripps Hardware company and adjoining stores from 10:30 a. m. until after the party had been here and the meeting held. This is to permit the gathering of the immense throng of people expected to participate in the meeting held for the noted leader of the Salvation Army.

Vets On Sidelines.

The busiest day of the encampment was held today with a grand parade of all convening organizations and nomination and election of officers holding the limelight.

Civil war veterans' only part in the procession today was the march from headquarters to a reviewing stand in the downtown section. Because of infirmities, many of the veterans were not able to take part in the parade and it was decided to install all veterans in a post of honor on the reviewing stand.

Business sessions at the convention got under way early today.

Following the parade, nominations for state officers were to be made and elections will be held this afternoon.

This afternoon, a Lincoln tablet will be presented to the Woman's Relief Corps and 300 school children will assemble at the G. A. R. headquarters and sing civil war songs. Two banquets and a camp fire are on tonight's program, and the day's activities will end with a ball.

LOOKING BACK IN NEW CASTLE

When it comes to looking back, there is a mule in this district, that can look back on approximately thirty years of life of toil for mankind and if it were able to speak, could tell of many interesting happenings in the last three decades.

This mule is at present the property of Fred Robinson, who resides on the Pulaski road, but a short distance beyond the city limits. This mule had reached the very mature age of thirty-one years and is still going strong, pulling a plough or other type of farm implement almost as readily as in its earlier life.

This animal had for a period of nine years, the honor of hauling mail. He was the property of the late Abe Welsh, who carried a rural route for many years. The mule was broken for use in harness by William Reynolds.

In spite of his advanced years, this mule still does a remarkable good days work and is very quiet and docile. His owner also finds him quite useful and indications are that his muleship will continue to be most useful for years to come.

Tomorrow—Parochial Schools of the district and how they have advanced.

Beeler of the history department of Grove City college delivered the principal address and 25 graduates received their diplomas and started enroute to higher education or to fight their world battles.

The commencement was the last at Bessemer for Professor H. J. Colton who is to become supervising principal for the Bridgeville, Allegheny county schools. To him it meant the parting of many firm friendships at Bessemer and today 700 boys and girls of the Bessemer school system received their report cards.

The invocation was delivered by Rev. W. J. Engle with an address of welcome by Nicholas Brentin. The farewell was said by Frances Griffin and P. W. Griffin, president of the board of education presented the diplomas to the 25 graduates. Music was furnished by the school orchestra.

TINY TRAFFIC COP SUPPORTS FAMILY

This four-year-old traffic cop averts accidents at a dangerous grade crossing near Rush Run, O., and, at the same time, helps support her jobless family. Hundreds of motorists know little Norma Barcus and rely on her to signal them when it is safe to cross the tracks. Then, in gratitude, they toss her coins, every one of which, except two cents, which go for candy and blow gum, Norma turns over to her family. Photo shows Norma, inset, and on guard at the crossing, just before she shouted, "Go ahead there, fella', you're not allowed to stop there in the roadway, and I don't want my picture tooked, either!" Even truck drivers stop when Norma barks commands.

Democrats Meet State Chairman Tuesday Afternoon

Making Tour Of Every County In The State Preparing For Fall Compaigns

John R. Collins of Coudersport, Pa., chairman, and Warren Van Dyke of Harrisburg, director of publicity for the state Democratic committee, were in the city Tuesday afternoon and met with the members of the Lawrence county Democratic committee and prominent members of the party.

The visit here is part of the statewide tour that Chairman Collins is conducting, during the course of which he is endeavoring to visit every one of the 67 counties and meet the leaders of the party in the respective districts.

While it is an off year, according to Warren Van Dyke, director of publicity, for the state committee, and there is no state or national contests and the activities politically are confined to county, city and smaller offices, the present tour is to meet the Democratic leaders and workers throughout the state and have a better understanding locally as well as throughout the state. The off year gives a better opportunity of meeting the various local leaders, according to Mr. Van Dyke.

This was the first visit of Mr. Collins to this city and he expressed himself as being much pleased with the community. While here, he and Mr. Van Dyke met the Democratic workers and leaders in the office of Attorney W. J. Baer, county chairman. Quite a number of people were present throughout the afternoon.

Messrs. Collins and Van Dyke came here from Greenville, where they met the Mercer county leaders at noon and left in the afternoon for Rochester, Pa., where they were scheduled to meet the Beaver county leaders in the evening.

Program Of Unusual Qualities Has Been Arranged, Closing With A Pageant

Children's Day in the First Baptist Sunday school will be observed Sunday morning, June 14, with the exercises beginning at 10:30 in the church auditorium and continuing through the morning church hour.

One of the very best programs ever arranged for a service of this kind has been arranged, the service being entitled "His Loving Words" and ending with a most spectacular pageant. All members of the Sunday school will take part, from the tiniest tot to the oldest member; the choir having a special part.

The special committee arranging for the service includes: Miss Elizabeth Owens, Mrs. D. McClelland, Mrs. Herbert Horton, Miss Charlotte Emery, Mrs. Jane Pattison and Miss Mabel Morrison, assisted by the teachers of the different departments.

The decorating committee, Stanley Davis, Paul Arow, Mary Koch and James McCallim, are arranging one of the cleverest platform decorating schemes ever attempted in the church.

The regular Sunday school lesson will be presented to the classes at 9:45, the opening being scheduled for 9:30 a. m.

The special offering this year will be divided between the local missionary society and the note which the church carries.

EYEBROWS TO FIT MOOD

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, O., June 10.—Changing the eyebrows to fit every mood is the latest thing in fashion, according to Mrs. Ruth D. Maurer, chairman of the American Association of Cosmeticians and Hair Artists, who recently stated her views here.

You will like the price★ as well as the quality...

What must you pay for the car you would like to own? Can you get a car that is well built, fast, easy to drive and good to look at—for the price you want to pay?

Indeed you can—for in Pontiac you get so much for your money. It is an outstanding General Motors value.

For instance, if you owned a small car in the past, you will find you can buy the fine Pontiac today for about what that small car cost you. Yet what extra value Pontiac gives you!

One fine thing you get is a 60 h. p. motor that is smooth and quiet at all times. It is a large motor, and so does all you ask with ease. And you can trust it to work that way as long as you have the car.

Then you will get a fine new Fisher body which is built to shut out heat, cold, rain and noise. The seat springs are deep—the cushions soft. Real mohair and whipcord give the style and long wear you want for pride and lasting value.

You will find the Pontiac very comfortable to ride in. There are rubber cushions at 43 points in the chassis—a fine-car feature which takes up most of the road shocks. Also there are four hydraulic shock absorbers to add to your comfort.

Your friends will say that Pontiac's lines and color and finish make it a car to be proud of. People will turn to watch it as you drive by. You will feel that you have bought fine-car value at a very low cost.

Of course you may say that we think more of our car than you might! Then why not drive the Pontiac and find out just how well it lives up to what we say about it? Any Oakland-Pontiac dealer will be glad to let you take a Pontiac, whenever you are ready to make the test.

Administrative Amendments Are Given Approval

Governor Pinchot Approves Amendments To Administrative And Fiscal Codes

NEW COMMISSION STANDS CREATED

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 10. — Gov. Gifford Pinchot has approved amendments to both the administrative and fiscal codes as passed by the last legislature. As passed they did not contain many of the marked changes proposed by administration backers for further stripping elective officers other than the governor of powers they now have.

Approval of the administrative code and a bill sponsored by Rep. George Wade, Cumberland, creates a state bridge commission whose duty will be gradual acquistion of all toll bridges in the commonwealth, the Wade bill creates the commission while code amendments provide for its functioning.

The commission will consist of the auditor general, the secretary of highways and three other persons to be appointed by the governor. The three private citizens will receive an annual salary of $5,000. The commission may acquire bridges either by purchase or condemnation and funds for such purchases may be raised by the sale of revenue bonds which will be retired by the collection of tolls until the purchase price has been paid.

Program Limited

The purchase program of the commission will be limited solely to intrastate bridges. The measure is of particular interest in the vicinity of Harrisburg where toll is collected on all bridges over the Susquehanna.

A separate bureau in the department of mines whose duty will be the promotion of the interests of the mining and mineral industry is created by one of the amendments to the administrative code.

The administrative code as it passed the house would have transferred the bureau of aeronautics from the department of internal affairs to the department of forests and waters. That was killed in the senate and house conferees later agreed.

The same fate met a provision in the fiscal code which would have taken the power of appointment of mercantile tax appraisers from the auditor general and given it to the secretary of revenue.

Bran Eating Is Bad For Some Folk

White Versus Brown Bread Is Subject Of Article

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

An article under the title of "White Bread Versus Brown." by Dr. James A. Tobey, appears in the American Mercury and is in agreement with the conclusions expressed many times in this column. It is a well-balanced summary of the advantages and disadvantages of both white and brown bread, and a discussion of all that dietary science knows about bread. Dr. Tobey says that he himself eats both brown and white bread and enjoys and profits by both.

The substance that makes brown bread brown is, of course, bran.

One thing that Dr. Tobey dwells on is the trouble excessive eating of brown bread or bran alone will cause. This is not sufficiently understood.

To illustrate this Dr. Tobey quotes a story from Dr. Walter C. Alvarez of the Mayo Clinic: "A woman who had never been addicted to bran and whose health was entirely satisfactory, visited a sister who was a bran zealot, because its use had helped cure her of a serious case of constipation. The woman tried bran liked it, and began to use it daily in rather copious quantities. 'Very promptly,' writes Dr. Alvarez, 'she developed such flatulence, abdominal pain and indigestion that she had to begin cutting out one food after the other in an attempt to find the offending one. In order to make up for the loss of these foods she ate more bran.' By the time the deluded lady reached the physician, she was mostly skin and bones. As soon as the bran was eliminated from her diet she regained her normal health."

Bran is, of course, helpful in many cases of constipation, but it should be taken under the direction of a physician. There are certain people whose intestinal tracts are so sensitive that bran cannot be tolerated at all. Many of these people develop what is termed "mucous colitis." My mail is always full of letters from people who want to know about this disease, and how to treat it. Most of the cases are complicated and cannot be treated by any one single form of management, but here is one simple thing, at any rate, that has helped many such patients—eliminate brown bread and bran from the diet.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

Miss M., Trenton, N. J.: "What can I do for blackheads which literally cover my whole face, and are particularly bad on my nose and chin? I have no pimples; I wash my face every night with a pure soap, followed by a lubricating cream; I eat very little sweets and do not drink alcohol."

Answer: The treatment of comedons, or blackheads, has been given as follows: If the eruption it made up entirely of small comedones and is located upon the forehead or creeks, thorough cleansing morning and night with tincture of green soap or pulverized almond meal containing 10 grains of potassium carbonate or sodium borate and 10 grains of powdered soap bark to the ounce will frequently be curative. Hand sapolio or very fine pumice is alco recommended, especially when aided by the expression of the comedones."

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. Satin smoothness certified by Torsiographic tests

Studebaker's Dictator Eight engine gets almost perfect score for "rounded" performance. Nothing in its price class equals The Dictator's even power flow

"EYESIGHT evidence" of remarkable smoothness now verifies the enthusiastic claims of thousands of Dictator Eight owners. The unerring stylus of the Torsiograph reveals an absence of vibration in The Dictator's 81-horsepower engine which is unique in a car of The Dictator's low price.

Here indeed is "rounded" performance! Rounded not only figuratively, as shown by the Torsiographic record, but rounded as well in every function that makes motoring a pleasure and an economy.

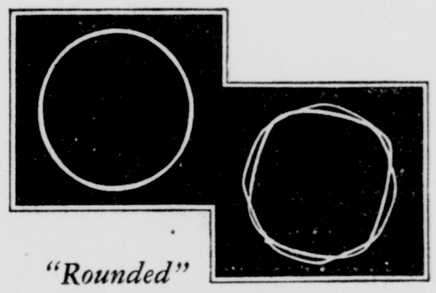
There is no mystery in the source of The Dictator's smoothness. A sturdy, nine-bearing crankshaft, balanced not only statically but dynamically, is at the heart of it. What little vibration may survive, is further minimized by a crankshaft vibration damper of remarkable efficiency.

That is but the beginning. Combustion, or firing, is made steady and even by the use of a dual carburetor and gas passage, which assures equal fuel being fed to each cylinder, without "starving" the extreme end cylinders.

Full-power exhaust muffling, which conserves horsepower, and carburetor silencing—both introduced by Studebaker—combine to give The Dictator engine quiet to match its smoothness.

Finally, Free Wheeling brings to The Dictator its restful travel-ease. Clutch-pushing is almost forgotten. Gears shift noiselessly at any speed. Momentum is put to work, carrying you 10,000 miles for 8,000 miles of engine effort. Gasoline and oil consumption is cut 15% to 20%. Safety is enhanced. Enjoyment is multiplied.

Today—come drive The Dictator, the Eight with "rounded" performance. Enjoy luxury without luxury's usual tariff. Take the wheel of The Dictator and convince yourself.



"Rounded" Performance

The Torsiograph, one of the most nearly infallible of automotive laboratory instruments, records accurately the vibration of any rotating shaft. The closer the record chart approaches a true circle, the more nearly perfect the balance of the crankshaft. Above are shown the Torsiographic records of The Dictator Eight nine (9) bearing crankshaft and those of two other eights of double The Dictator's price. Notice the smooth roundness of The Dictator graph contrasted with the irregularity, or "humpiness" of the other two.

News Of The World As Told In Pictures

Air Scientists and Their Discoverer

Stealing His Stuff

Although Paolino Uzcudun, Max Baer's opponent in their forthcoming match at Reno, Nev., on July 4, has had the monicker "The Wood Chopper," fastened on him, this picture looks as if Max was stealing some of Paolino's stuff. If Max can beat Uzcudun at chopping wood he may be able to wallop him at swapping punches, but only time will tell. Insert shows Paolino in a happy mood, while the ambitious lad with the ax is Max in training at Lawton Springs, near Reno.

Syracuse Preparing for Regatta

Under the expert tutelage of Coach Jim Ten Eyck (insert), members of the varsity crew of Syracuse University, of the up-state city in New York, are pictured here during a recent workout in preparation for the Poughkeepsie regatta to be staged on the Hudson River, June 16. The Syracuse oarsmen are working hard to cover themselves with glory at the famous race between varsity shells.

Thundering Across Finish Line

If this was a talking picture you might be deafened by the thundering hoofs of fleet race horses bearing right down on you as they dash across the finish line at Belmont Park, L. I., Royal Tree, Burke up, is leading this large field of thoroughbred three-year-olds down the homestretch.

Ambitious to Hop Pacific

Undaunted by the failure of other flyers to span the Pacific Ocean from Japan to the United States, Thomas Ash (at left) is having his plane gassed at Tokio for test flights in preparation for his attempted flight across the watery wastes. The plane he will use (shown above) is the same one in which Harold Bromley and Harold Gatty hoped to make a similar trans-Pacific hop last year.

Navy's First "Windmill" Ship

The United States Navy has many different types of ships, but it was only recently that it added an autogiro or "windmill" plane to its equipment. Here is the first naval autogiro taking to the air at the Anacostia Naval Air Station in Maryland. Assistant Secretary of the Navy David S. Ingalls flew in the strange looking craft, the test of which was perfectly satisfactory.

Unlike the Type

No one can say that Corliss Lamont (above), son of Thomas W. Lamont, multi-millionaire member of the firm of J. P. Morgan, bears even the slightest resemblance to the typical rich man's son. Young Lamont may live on Riverside Drive, New York, but he talks the language of the "man in the street." Recognized as one of the most brilliant spokesmen of his generation for political and economic reform, Corliss believes the U. S. may choose between giving the masses security through reforms or across the barricades of Communist revolt.

The Sea Gains New Appeal

The ocean, as everyone knows, is very appealing, but if such fair creatures as these according their captain a snappy salute were to roam the seven seas the water would call many more souls to brave its dangers for the smiles pictured above. Captain J. W. McKenzie, of the S. S. Algonquin, is shown taking the salute from four beauties from across the pond. The captain (lucky dog) is taking the girls from New York to the international pageant of pulchritude in Galveston, Tex. The beauties are, left to right, Miss Germany, Miss Denmark, Miss Austria and Miss Norway.

Heiress to Wed

Charles C. Cunningham is the lucky young man who has won Eleanor Lamont (above), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Lamont, of New York. The attractive daughter of the associate of the J. P. Morgan banking interests attended Miss Chapin's school in New York and is now a junior at Smith College. Miss Lamont's fiance is a junior at Harvard.

FEDERAL NEMESIS GETS CAPONE

One by one, George E. F. Johnson (2), United States attorney, has knocked the props out from under Scarface Al Capone (1) Chicago's Public Enemy No. 1, until Scarface, himself, now faces a 32-year prison sentence and a fine of $80,000, if he is convicted of charges of wilful evasion of income taxes amounting to $215,080.48. Among the Capone henchmen whom Johnson has vanquished are (3) Frank Nitti, financial brains of the gang, serving 18 months in Leavenworth; (4) Jack Gusick, five years in Leavenworth for non-payment of taxes; (5) Ralph Capone, Al's brother, has appeal pending from a three-year sentence for income tax frauds; Terry Druggan (6) and Frankie Lake (7) beer barons from whom Johnson obtained pleas of guilty

Death Plot Bared

Mrs. Alice De Leeuw (below) and Michel Fedor (above) are being held by Rutherford, N. J., authorities for their connection with an alleged plot on the life of the woman's husband, wealthy contractor. Fedor is said by police to have confessed to a plot whereby Mrs. De Leeuw was to pay him and an accomplice $1,000 for killing her husband. THE PARENT PROBLEM

Enjoy Your Baby, Says Dr. Myers

An Infant's Structure Proportions Differ From Adult

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

Really the more we know about the baby the more we ought to be able to enjoy him. It is my belief that we parents should enoy our children, and the more familiar we are with their physical nature and development the more we ought to be able to enjoy them intelligently, to enjoy them without interfering with their best welfare and development, but with furthering their normal growth.

In the first place, the child is not just an adult in miniature. His proportions are different, his structure is different, he is a wholly different creature from the grown-up.

At birth his brain is about one-eighth the weight of his entire body. Now suppose you and I were walking around with a brain weighing one-eighth as much as we weigh. Even you lean, sylph-like ladies would be pretty top-heavy at that rate. Your brain now is only about one-fiftieth of your total weight Your head is not very much bigger than it was when you were born, the height thereof only twice what it was then, while your trunk is about three times as long as then, your arms about four times as long, and your legs about five times as long.

Think of the little child from three to five who must sit in a chair made for adults. Even up to the age of 12 or 14, grown-up furniture is not suited to children. With the feet dangling, no wonder children grow restless sitting at the table. I feel ashamed of myself when I consider how slow we were to consider these matters with our children, and I can sympathize with many thousand other children treated with even less consideration.

At birth, the average baby weighs about 7½ pounds, boys about half a pound more than girls. The grown-up women wishing to reduce had, therefore, a handicap over the man at the start.

While there is a little loss of weight immediately after birth, this is regained within a few weeks. And how the baby grows in the first five months, during which time he doubles his weight! Suppose you doubled your weight every five months!

By the end of his first year he weighs about three times as much as when he was born. The average baby is about 20 inches long at birth and grows about 10 inches in the first year, but he must grow for about four years to double his length. You are now about 3½ times as long as you were when you were born. After birth, the baby's head grows slowly, the arms most rapidly, next the trunk and lower limbs.

You don't have as many bones as you were born with. As the baby grows new bones are being added and others being fused together. The baby's bones are softer than yours, therefore, less easily broken and more easily warped. As you know, the little child who does not have the proper diet to build up his fast-growing bone structure may develop rickets; hence the need of ample milk, green vegetables and sunshine, or its nearest equivalent.

Before Her Baby Came

"My mother gave me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I came to womanhood. I was so nervous that I couldn't rest at night. After I took your Compound I felt much better. Then before my baby was born I took the Compound again. I felt strong all through the period. I was never in bed a day. I could rest good at night too." — Mrs. H. L. Buell, Marietta, Ohio.

Plan To Combat Court Decision In Harmony Co. Case

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 10.—Attorneys for opponents of the discontinuance of two branches of the Pittsburgh, Harmony, Butler and New Castle Railways company today prepared to combat the decision of Federal Judge J. P. Schoonmaker granting the termination order in one of three legal ways.

The two spurs are those between Ellwood City and East New Castle and Ellwood City and Beaver Falls. Operations are to be suspended, the order directed, at midnight next Monday.

Attorney William S. Doty, counsel for citizens and communities along the line, said today that action to prevent the closing of the branches could be brought by the Attorney General of the Public Service Commission; or an appeal from Judge Schoonmaker's opinion can be taken in the circuit court of appeals.

Judge Schoonmaker's opinion, delivered yesterday on the petition of Maurice R. Scharff, receiver for the road, stated that permission to cease service on the two branches was granted so that the owners of the 78 mile line would not be "compelled to abandon the whole line for want of sufficient revenues to carry on operations." In Scharff's petition he stated that the Public Service Commission had been informed of the proposed action of the receiver and had not seen fit to interfere. Opponents of the closing order had argued that the right to terminate such service was vested with the Public Service Commission rather than the United States District Court.

Associated with Attorney Doty is the legal fight to retain operation on the spurs is Attorney J. M. Humphrey, of Ellwood City. Doty represents the municipalities of Ellwood City, Bradford Woods and Marshall Township.

Final decision had not been made as to what action will be taken.

Lighting System Bids To Be Asked

ELLWOOD CITY, June 10.—The Board of Education last night at its regular meeting authorized the secretary of the board to advertise for bids for the installation of an emergency lighting system that will be approved by the state.

This action was taken as a result of Secretary R. K. Mattock's interview with the board's attorney recently.

The board accepted the suggestion of the company who installed the floor in the Lincoln auditorium, to rebuild certain parts of the floor during the summer months, which will probably be done in June. The tile in the isles will be taken out and a mastic flooring will be installed. Upon its completion no one will be admitted into the auditorium until the opening of school in the fall when it will be in good condition. It is believed that using the present floor too soon was the cause of the trouble.

Also at this time the board refused to accept the offer of T. V. Barnes in purchasing his Kimball organ at a bargain price, for the reason that it could not be placed any where. No plans for the installation of an organ were made when the auditorium was constructed.

The secretary of the board was also authorized to advertise for bids for the supplying of coal in the schools in the next term.

Aim To Improve Athletic Field

ELLWOOD CITY, June 10—The Board of Education will endeavor to improve the condition of the Lincoln High school Athletic Field if it may receive the co-operation of the borough and the people.

The field is expected to be scraped and leveled off. If possible low places will be filled. The aid of the borough engineer will be solicited in making a general survey of the field and to cite the improvements necessary. The field needs more sod and should be drained. Also the bleachers on the north side of the field will be torn down.

There are many people who are at the present time idle and have received charitable aid from the community. There is an opportunity now to do something for the community and pay off your debt, and that is to donate your services gratis in cleaning up the Athletic Field which is used by the community at large. The place could be made much more presentable.

West Pittsburg Meet N. Highland

League Leaders To Meet Tough Opponents Tonight At West Pittsburg

Some of the best games played to date in the Lawrence County league are anticipated tonight when the different organizations battle tonight on the different ball orchards. North Highland playing at West Pittsburg leads the headliner due to the fact that West Pittsburg leads the league.

The other contests scheduled are:
Wampum at Brent.
Shenango at Scarazzos.
Universals at Hillsville.
Bessemer, idle.

Two teams have shown much improvement in the past few games. Bessemer in its past few contests has demonstrated that it is still in the first half race. Last Saturday the Cement City nine handed the strong Universals a 10-2 shellacking. A lad by the name of Nord set the Universals down.

On Monday this same Nord hurled against the Scarazzos and when the game ended the score favored Bessemer again, 5-4. If Bessemer continues its pace it may be up there before the first half race is concluded. Brent has also shown improvement.

The Lawrence County League is proving fast with some fast contests resulting.

E. New Castle Trims Elms, 8-5

On Tuesday on the East New Castle field the East New Castle Merchants handed the Elm Nine an 8-5 defeat.

Shaftic on the mound for the winners allowed but three safe blows. M. Kiwiat for the Elm Nine was touched for seven blows.

SPYING ON SPORTS

BY WILLIAM RITT

Central Press Sports Editor.

Possibility of the United States withdrawing from Davis cup competition as result of the current squabble with the International Lawn Tennis federation over control over the cup is probably causing less concern over here than in Europe.

The Davis cup challenge round in recent years has attracted less interest than formerly in America, the result of its remote scene of action. The Yankee sport fan somehow just can't generate a lot of personal excitement over tennis matches held, year after year, in France, the scene of the finals as long as that nation is the defender.

The impetus given the court game through individual American stars and teams and the efforts of American tennis officials has been considerable. The United States has been largely responsible for the rapid world-wide growth of the game. And, should the nation which originated the Davis cup matches withdraw from competition for it, prestige of tennis in foreign nations where the game is still comparatively new would receive a severe blow.

Withdrawal of the United States from Davis cup competition, while not probable, is a possible outcome of the effort of the International Lawn Tennis federation to assume jurisdiction over Davis cup matches, despite American protest.

The United States Lawn Tennis association desires that the present method of governing cup matters continue. It is the opinion over here that the International body's primary purpose is to maintain uniform regulations and playing rules. France is the leader of European nations which are at cross-purposes with the idea. And France, at present, has the most powerful voice in the International federation.

The Davis cup nations will debate the matter in London, June 30. American representatives at the conclave will be Watson Washburn and Samuel Hardy, well-known tennis figures.

Of more immediate interest to Americans is the strength or lack of it possessed by the American Davis cup team, now abroad, and which is expected to once more reach the challenge round and attempt to wrest the cup from French hands.

The American team is young, has had considerable international experience, but does not appear to be as strong as several recent American team which failed to end French sway over the prized bowl.

George Lott and John Van Ryn have been playing in a number of European matches and these two, with the other team members, Frank Shields and Sydney Wood, are entered in the Wimbledon, England tourneys, which precede the Davis cup finals.

Gans And Solomon Win At Pittsburgh

Baby Joe Gans defeated Jackie Brady in a slow 10-round bout last night at Pittsburgh. In one of the preliminaries Mickey Solomon of New Castle won from Carl Montabano. The fight went six rounds.

Solomon scored a knockdown in the first and when the decision was turned in the judges split and Referee Red Robinson awarded the bout to Mickey.

Good Pitch Shot, Putting Combined, Fine Stroke Saver

By ROY GROVE
Central Press Golf Writer

Copyright 1931 by Central Press

NUMBER 28

The Pitch shot, combined with putting, is the greatest stroke saver in the game.

By watching the beginner do his round you immediately will see where he is running up his score.

The average golfer becomes careless around the greens. He will take from four to six strokes before getting up to the cup, when he knows he could have done it in one or two if he had tried.

The successful golfer does not worry about the tee shot or the sliced ball to the green. His concern is in getting close to the pin on that third shot for a one-put green.

The average golfer does his fine work with all sorts of clubs because he cannot make up his mind. Just because one club does not work in pitching is no reason why he should change to another.

If you are using the mashie, stay with it and master the stroke. If you are using the mashie-niblick, stay with that club.

Aside from this, the most successful golfers use the No. 4 iron. Jones uses it for pitching. Note in the illustration how far down the shaft the grip should be held. This is balance. Never raise the head until the ball has dropped. This controls the right shoulder. Practice these points and stick with the No. 4 iron if you would learn to save ten strokes.

Youngstown Lawyer Sued For $50,000

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 10—Attorney Kedge Powell, former police chief, was sued today for $50,000 by Roy Puffer, salesman, who alleges Powell beat him so severely he was confined in a hospital two days and at his home for 10 days. Powell recently was indicted by a special grand jury for irregularities.

Ball Yard Banter

Is Wesley Ferrell paying a too high price for his no-hit game of several weeks ago? The Cleveland star bore down with all he had in the closing innings of that fracas. Now he complains of a shoulder pain when pitching hard. And he has not been up to his old form since he turned in that no-hitter.

* * *

Improvement of the St. Louis Browns this season is marked. Bill Killifer has a scrappy club, made up of high-grade hurlers, a fine infield, a star catcher and a good outfield.

The war against gambling in big league parks goes on apace. Slowly but surely the betting boys are being driven away from games. Commissioner K. M. Landis' request that selection of pitchers remain unannounced until game time will help. The Yankees are leaders in the anti-gambling crusade, employing detectives who patrol the stadium, keeping eyes open for wager makers.

Still another reason the Brooklyn Robins got off to such a bad start this year is the fact that Babe Phelps, expected to be a better hurler this year than last, has failed to show winning form.

* * *

Both Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals owe their fat list of games won to failure of the Pirates and Reds to give them strong opposition. The Cards have won 17 games from the second division duo, while the Cubs have taken 18 contests. However, these games total up in the final analysis the same as victories over the powerful Giants and Brooklyn.

Hitler Followers Stage Demonstration As German Statesmen Board Train

(International News Service)

BREMERHAVEN, June 10—A near riot broke out at the North German Lloyd Railway station today when Chancellor Bruening and Dr. Curtius boarded their special train for Berlin.

In spite of police precautions, Nazis penetrated the station, unfurled the facist flag with the swastika cross., shouting "down with hunger, Chancellor!"

When the police rushed to expel the demonstrators, the Hitlerites angrily resisted. In the struggles that followed several of them were clubbed. Others were arrested.

BANG, GOES DAY OF REST
(International News Service)

DENVER, June 10.—Fireman William Myers had a day off. He sat back in his chair and gazed out of the window.

"Hop to it, you smoke eaters," he mumbled as he heard the fire trucks roaring up the street. "I won't be with you. This is my day off."

The engines stopped in front of Myers' house.

"Keep calm, friend," they told him, "your roof's on fire."

So Myers hustled up to the roof to do his bit.

ELYRIA, O., June 10.—In the future Harvey Welton will do his rooting at local ball games with a cow bell. Harvey, an enthusiastic home team fan, swore off cheering and shouting the other day when he was bitten by a bee. Accustomed to do his cheering with his mouth as wide open as necessary, Harvey began to shout just as the bee was flying by. The bee paused and landed on the fan's left tonsil.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Market Today Is Quite Unsettled

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 10.—A 2 per cent decrease in Steel Mills operations, nervousness over the Steel Corporation's monthly forward tonnage report at noon today and a 44,000-car decline in the weekly volume on freight loadings on the American transportation systems unsettled the market in the first hour today, and prices of the active shares dropped moderately lower.

Responding to the action of the directors in ordering the regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 a share, New York Central jumped 4 points to 84½, carrying with it a few of the prominent Rails. Atchison moved up 2 points to 149½ and new gains of a point or more were recorded for other rail favorites.

United States Steel fell off 1¼ to 87¾, but most of the trading in the dull session took place around 88½, down ½ from yesterday's close. American Can forged 2 points to 101½ and in the second hour many of the Utilities and Specialties regained all of the ground lost near the opening. Only 200,000 shares changed hands in the first half-hour and trading was near the vanishing point in the balance of the forenoon. Near the noon period U. S. Steel rallied to above 89 on reports that the May unfilled tonnage, to be reported at noon, would show less than the 300,000-ton loss generally expected in the financial district.

The Commodity markets were steady with Cotton up a dollar a bale and Grain prices fractionally higher. Home and Foreign bonds in important groups continued the improvement started in yesterday's session, and call money was unchanged at 1½ per cent.

Recover Air Adventure Instruments

Dr. Charles Kipfer, Swiss scientist (shown kneeling, right), is removing the precious instruments and clothing from the interior of the huge aluminum ball in which he and his associate, Professor Auguste Piccard, ascended to the record-breaking height of 10 miles to make observations in the "stratosphere." Professor Piccard is inside the queer ball, handing out articles to his assistant. The intrepid aerial explorers landed safely on a glacier near Ober Gurgl, Austria, in the Tyrolean Alps. This picture, the first to arrive in the U. S., shows the adventurers surrounded by natives of the area.

Farewell Passenger Train On Stoneboro Branch Runs Tuesday

Passenger train whistles didn't shriek up "The Nip" today!—but it was the first time since engineers laid the present New Castle-to-Stoneboro branch of the Pennsylvania, known then as a part of the Western New York & Pennsylvania railroad. The last regular passenger train steamed over the rails on Tuesday afternoon.

The withdrawal yesterday of passenger service on the New Castle branch, asked for by the Pennsy because a decreasing patronage failed to warrant continued schedules, caused many to regret the passing of the service over this picturesque portion of the E. & A. division.

Recall Big Crowds

Time was when the number of passengers carried daily ran into the hundreds, but good roads, the automobiles and changed conditions destroyed the local business to such an extent that yesterday's final train transported less than a dozen.

With no prospect of any immediate improvement in the demand for service, it quietly passed out of the picture.

"The Nip", as it was familiarly known, became a part of the Pennsylvania system in 1900. Prior to that it was a part of the Western New York and Pennsylvania railway. Many will remember that Milt Clark was the passenger conductor on the Oil City and Jacob Mumbaugh was the engineer. Isaac Barnhart of Beckford street handled the engine on the Stoneboro-New Castle run, and for years Tom Woodford was conductor, Frank J. Middleton of Pine street is another old W. N. Y. & P. man still in active passenger service. Harry Alexander, freight agent at New Castle until his recent retirement, was originally agent for the W. N. Y. & P. here.

Two Bad Wrecks

J. C. Hanrahan, division operator, says he remembers well of copying the first train order after the road was taken over by the Pennsylvania. John F. Leonardson, now retired, was the train dispatcher. There was no block system those days and trains were handled by time table rights and train orders. Older residents will remember two serious wrecks—one not long after the road was taken over when two evening passenger trains collided near East Brook, and the other in 1905 when a trainload of people going to the Stoneboro fair were in a collision. There were several seriously injured and when the word got back to New Castle excitement was rife. All the ambulances and doctors were summoned and when the relief train pulled into the old Union station with its returning passengers there were crowds on hand to greet them and reporters sure worked their pencils that day.

Union station was where the Pennsylvania East Side station now stands and was used by P. & L. E., B. & O. and P. R. R. It was two-storied and burned one winter night (1910).

In the height of passenger business there were three trains each way on the "Snake". One from Mahoningtown to Oil City and return, one from Stoneboro in the morning and back in the afternoon, with a companion run from Mahoningtown in the afternoon and back in the evening.

"On Saturday Nite"

The Saturday night train trip up the branch was always loaded to the guards. People from up the line would come to New Castle to do their week-end shopping and stay as long as they could. About the time the engineer would start to ring the engine bell preparatory to starting, men would come pouring out of two neighboring barrooms and a nearby wholesale liquor house. A large percentage were coal miners from off the Wolf Creek branch and many had a load inside and out.

Then is when it took a diplomat to be a conductor and get his passengers handled without having a fight or two on his hands. At Leesburg they changed trains to the Wolf Creek passenger train which then ran through to Redmond near Slippery Rock. Two of the enginemen on this run were J. C. Roller and later on W. J. Caulfield. Marty O'Brien was one conductor and Bob Gwin another.

It was a boisterous, rollicking, hard-handed gang they had to handle as passengers. If they were treated as equals they were usually good natured, but if anybody tried to high-hat them that spelled trouble if they could pick a fight. The Wolf Creek passenger run they sort of considered their own and were very much at home as soon as they transferred at Leesburg. Usually on the Saturday night trips one or two men with the best of intentions would pass through the car with a bottle, offering it to all who cared to partake—no, it wasn't milk! Occasionally in a playful mood a window would be kicked out.

Those days are gone, but do you wonder that the railroad men as well as the people of the communities served very much regret that the passenger business on the branch is no more, as it was a symbol of times that were.

The final crew of the Stoneboro run included: A. E. Hillman, conductor; C. L. Uber, baggageman, and J. M. Yates, engineman.

Act Suspicious And Are Held By City Authorities

Man And Woman Arrested Early Today Tell Stories That Do Not Agree

When the drivers of a milk delivery wagon reported to the police at 3:35 a. m. today that there was a man and woman in a car on Maryland avenue, acting in a manner that aroused his suspicions, Officers Lockard and Dukes were detailed to investigate. They found the man and woman walking about on the streets about two blocks from the car.

They took the pair into custody. The car bore an Ohio license. On being questioned the woman gave the name of Winifred Silenius and claimed Chagrin Falls, O., as her home. She claimed that she was working for the wife of the name, who gave the name of Fred Kimmins, who is a cripple and played the accordian in various Ohio factories for a living. She claimed that she was to have taken Mrs. Kimmins to Akron this morning and that the husband had gotten up early and brought the car to Maryland avenue to have a mechanic make repairs to the car before starting on the trip. Kimmins on being questioned told a different story to the effect that he and the woman were starting to Pittsburgh and then went up there for repairs.

It was learned that the Kimmins had moved from Cleveland to the Harbor road recently and Mrs. Kimmins was interviewed and was found to be a cripple but denied that she had hired the other woman or that she played an accordian. She stated that the girl was known as Winifred Wesley. The girl gave the address of 65 High street, Chagrin Falls, O.

Kimmins had a registry card for the car but it was in the name of John Earl. Kimmins claimed that he had loaned money to Earl, who now lives in Detroit and that Earl had given him the car when he no no money to pay him.

As the several stories did not agree and the authorities were inclined to believe there was something suspicious in the whole matter, Kimmins and the girl are being held for further investigation.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

There is nothing very attractive about a telephone or telegraph pole. The most you can say for them is that they are utilitarian. Tall and gaunt and usually ugly, they rear their wooden heads mile after mile on the highway, adding nothing to the scenery, but very necessary because of their contribution to society.

There is no reason to gild the lily, nor add ugliness to something already ugly. And it seems to me that pasting glaring poster advertising sheets on telephone and telegraph poles is adding Ossa to Pelion, accentuating ugliness, making a bad job worse if you please.

Some advertising man who is smoking up a dance to be held in the near future has overstepped the boundaries of good taste and transgressed the law in smearing a lot of posters on poles along the Wilmington road, and in the city of New Castle.

There isn't any excuse for this sort of thing. The poles are necessary and while it would improve the scenery if they could be removed, there is no way of doing it, save for an underground system that at the present is beyond consideration. But to add those posters is one too many. The law should be invoked.

Once in a while an idea in this colyum takes root. The one concerning the triangle down in the seventh ward seems to have done so. A lot of the folks agree with the idea that this triangle should be landscaped and now the thing to do is convince Lou Genkinger of it. Councilman Lou is not hard to convince where the beauty of any spot in the city is concerned, and given a little time it seems reasonable to believe that some shrubbery will result.

There was a strange peace in a lot of homes this morning. Instead of the usual 8 to 8:30 rush, washing faces, combing unruly locks and seeing that a couple of hungry youngsters got their food down, there was a strange silence. It's the first day of the summer vacation and some late sleeping was on the schedule.

Inspired by the idea of a garden, Johnny Daugherty, who custodes here at The News did his bit today. Mons. Daugherty secured a large sweet potato, free of blemish, or blot, placed it carefully in a vase of water and consigned it to the care of Mother Nature.

A month from now the vase will be filled with a thousand long White roots, the vine will be spread all over the end of the office and Jawn will have done his duty by society.

One nice thing about it is that a sweet potato garden such as this requires no weeding, no cultivating, nothing but a little water now and then.

Officials Probe Suicide Of Woman

Woman Enters Church At Shenandoah, Pa., And Drains Bottle Of Poison

(International News Service)

SHENANDOAH, Pa., June 10.—Police today pressed an investigation into the suicide of a woman who drained a bottle of carbolic acid while kneeling in a church here and died within an hour. Probe of the case, authorities announced, indicated that the woman was Mrs. Elenore Petronis of Russell street, Detroit.

She was first identified as Mary Dublin of Youngstown, O., from papers in her possession but check with Youngstown authorities resulted in a statement from the Youngstown woman that she had recently befriended a woman answering the description of the suicide.

Police also were searching for several letters found in the woman's purse, which have disappeared. The letters, officers said, indicated the dead woman knew someone here but identity of the local resident has not been learned.
